The manufacturers have not secured it by incurring undue expense and these cars will, therefore, appeal to those who want the best without extravagance.

THE CHARTIST MOVEMENT.

A young man lived through the rebellion of 1798 and the riot of 1803, and both gave him an intense disbelief in the use of physical force. That young man was Daniel O'Connell—a Boanerges if ever there was one. He proved to be one of the most eloquent orators and one of the most versatile men in the political world of his day. He never ceased to proclaim his lifelong conviction that he was "the first apostle and founder of that sect of politicians whose cardinal doctrine is this—that the greatest and most desirable of political changes may be achieved by moral means alone, and that no human revolution is worth the effusion of one drop of human blood. Human blood is no cement for the temple of human liberty."

In the illuminating pages of Mr. West's book we meet Daniel O'Connell in a comparatively new aspect. We come to see that O'Connell was a Parliamentary reformer in the days when reform was not popular. He loathed slavery, and at a time when it was important for him to gain support in the United States he bitterly denounced the oppression of the negro. He was an enthusiastic Free Trader, though Free Trade was to work destruction in his own land. He was always an ardent advocate of toleration in an age when it was not common. He defended the emancipation of the Jews. He was warmly in favour of the cheapening and the codifying of the law, but he was opposed to capital punishment. He was against usury laws, against flogging in the Army, and against the game laws. Had he ceased to agitate in 1829, he would have left a name to be remembered by posterity with gratitude. Unlike Grattan, he could not retire from public life—he could not live the life of a private gentleman. Now Mr. West reveals to us the connection of O'Connell with the Chartist movement.

The author has dived into the musty manuscripts of the British Museum, and has, we think, for the first time employed the MS. volumes gathered together by Francis Place. These volumes in the Hendon Annexe eluded the search of Mr. Graham Wallas, whose biography of Francis Place is familiar to every student of the industrial movements during the early decades of the nineteenth century. The pity is that the author made the supreme sacrifice in the war, and we can look forward to no more guidance from him on the past. There is a short biography of his short life by his friend, Mr. J. C. Squire, and, as we read it, we once more set ourselves the task of measuring some of our losses in the world war.

Mr. West has examined the work of men like Major Cartwright and William Lovett, of Francis Place and Feargus O'Connor, and he opens up many novel points of view, putting the Chartist movement in unexpected settings. He shows how little the Reform Bill of 1832 met the wishes of the working-men behind the Chartists. It was to them a bitter blow, for "the organised working-men were in the position of a savage tribe which has captured, at considerable cost to itself, a supposed wonder-working idol, only to find that it was a completely useless golliwog." Mr. West, therefore, enables us to grasp the element of fierceness underlying the men who sympathised with the demands embodied in the People's Charter of May 8th, 1838. The fiasco of 1848 is admirably worked out, though here it seems to us that Mr. West's psychology is somewhat at fault. It is easy to laugh at the Government's preparations to meet the twenty thousand Chartists who were to march through London under the leadership of Feargus O'Connor. Richard Mayne, Commissioner of Police, spoke quietly to Feargus O'Connor, putting him in possession of the facts of the case, and the demonstration of twenty thousand Chartists through London never happened.

MR. MALLOCK'S MEMORIES.

Mr. Mallock's works are, perhaps, better known to readers of twenty years ago than to those of the present day. It is difficult to gauge whether their value will be lasting, for he has adopted a somewhat uncertain class of writing, dressing up the passing questions of the day—social, religious, and political—in the form of a novel and using his characters as exponents of his own views or those of his special bêtes noires. The names of "The New Republic," "The New Paul and Virginia," and "A Romance of the Nineteenth Century" show in themselves what the subject-matter is likely to be. Yet we find that the least interesting parts of Mr. Mallock's "Memoirs" are those which deal with the sources of inspiration of these works, their aims, and the inner meaning of their plots. It is dangerous for an author to dissect these matters in the public eye: the sinews and arteries on which he dwells with loving care are dull to the ordinary intelligence. A Victor Hugo or a Wordsworth may proclaim in his prefaces the theories of a new school of literature, but to dissect his works years after publication is to dish up mutton cold after our palates have acquired a fresher taste.

Leaving aside, however, this, which forms but a very small portion of the book, we find in the pages of the "Memoirs" a delightful account of the life and interests of a leisured writer who has the entrée of every aristocratic house in England and Scotland and of many princely houses on the Continent. Brought up in his early days in Devonshire, he was bound to be a Conservative in politics, and he has carried on all through his life an aggressive warfare on socialism and agnosticism. One of his journeys arose from an invitation of an anti-socialist body in the United States that he should deliver a series of lectures there on the subject. We note, however, with a smile that the association which invited Mr. Mallock took care first to collar the Press, and then confined his lectures for the most part to select coteries of the upper ten or University students. It is ingenuous touches such as these which give a very human interest to the book.

There is a fund of good stories throughout, and we have brought home to us in their most intimate moods celebrities such as Dr. Jowett, the poets Swinburne and Browning, novelists such as Lord Lytton and Ouida. There are delightful hostesses and self-effacing hosts. We wander with a cultured and wealthy society from the Hebrides and the Scottish Highlands to Cyprus and the forests of Hungary, and the pen that describes all for us is that of a polished writer, an observer of mankind, and a poet of no mean order.

JOHN BUCHAN'S ANNUAL.

We read Mr. Buchan's "Annual" with growing admiration. The narrative of the course of events from 1914 to 1918 is a long one, but not a single page is dull. He possesses the magic gift of style, without which mere information is dead. In this volume a contribution from his brilliant pen deals with the wonderful courage displayed by the South Africans at Marrières Wood. There are fourteen tales written by thirteen writers, and they will stir the blood of all who read them. Captain Gwatkin-Williams is the only writer with two tales to his credit, and in them he recounts the story of the five months spent by the crew of H.M.S. Tara in the Red Desert of Libya and of their rescue by the light armoured cars. Lieutenant-Colonel E. A. Ewart, well known to us as Boyd Cable, gives his experiences of the worst day and the best day that he knew in the war. The contrast is wonderfully well brought out, and we were divided between admiration and sympathy.

For us the first tale is the most thrilling in the whole book, for in it Captain Valentine Williams gives us the splendid story of the turning of the tide at the first Battle of Ypres in 1914. But for the gallant soldiership of General FitzClarence it is extremely probable that the Germans would have gained control of the Channel ports. How grave this would have been we can all see when we note how much trouble we found in blocking the port of Zeebrugge. Captain Williams does not put the case a whit too strongly when he says that October 31st, 1914, is a crucial date in our annals. On that day the flood-tide of the German menace to our civilisation and the liberty of the world reached high-water mark. Thanks to the glorious tenacity of our troops—but more particularly to the unerring military insight of General FitzClarence—that day marked the beginning of the ebb which was to leave Germany, four years later, a battered wreck amid the ruins of the Hindenburg Line.

The writer describes how Charles FitzClarence, V.C., inspired the 2nd Battalion of the Worcestershire Regiment to turn the tide. The new Fourth German Army, under the Duke of Wurtemberg, with five army corps composed of brand-new troops, delivered the offensive before which our men reeled. For two whole days matters went favourably for the foe. The gallant 1st Division and the 7th Division were obliged to fall back. Then General FitzClarence saw his opportunity. He rallied the Worcesters, and, as if by a miracle, the disaster was retrieved. The gap was stopped and our line restored. The way to Ypres was barred, and remained barred. The Channel ports were, for the moment, saved. No Germans—except prisoners—ever entered the ruins of Ypres. It is, indeed, a stirring story, and it is splendidly told.

A GREAT BOXER.

Certainly we may say of Carpentier's book que cela ne sent pas le renfermé. It gives one the impression from the outset that it is written by a man who leads an outdoor life and is always "in the pink." The idiom of the book is decidedly French in its lightness and sparkle. Most of it consists of descriptions of different fights, yet we never get tired because every fight is presented as a vivid picture, and we are allowed to see into the author's mind when he fought them. The descriptions of his fights with Ledoux and with the "Illinois Thunderbolt" remind one forcibly of the style of Ibañez in "El Matador." We have always been interested in Monsieur Descamps and the "hypnotic eye." He represents our old-fashioned idea of the professeur de Français, always voluble and ébouriffé, but large-hearted. We can be moved by his devotion when he stopped the fight with Klaus, even when his pupil was winning, because he saw blood splashing from his mouth.

Georges Carpentier is very interesting on the psychological side of boxing, and he shows us that he is always reading human nature—his pictures of the characters of "the Bombardier" and Beckett have quite the Bourget flavour. This book cannot but do much to raise our opinion of the pluck and sportsmanship of boxers because it is written in such a modest, yet sincere, spirit.

THE NORWICH SCHOOL.

"The Norwich School" has been chosen as the subject for this year's special number of The Studio. In a series of excellent articles Mr. H. M. Cundell gives a sketch of the founding of this remarkable School—the first of its kind in England—and a brief biography of its two leaders, John Crome and John Sell Cotman, together with some account of the other members. Knowledge of this society of artists—great in their day, and, as so often is the case, greater now that a century has elapsed since they lived and flourished—is unhappily confined to art-lovers, and this publication is intended to bring it within reach of all. The volume contains eighty reproductions after John (Old) Crome, John Sell Cotman, George Vincent, James Stark, J. Berney Crome, John Thirtle, R. Ladbrooke, David Hodson, M. E. and J. J. Cotman, etc. Eight of these excellent plates are in colour. The fact that April, 1921, marks the centenary of John Crome renders this a suitable time for the appearance of the volume.

A CHILDREN'S BOOK.

This is a happily conceived story of a little boy's adventures with a "phooca" whom he met at a Hallow-e'en party just before he fell into the bath of cold water when grabbing at the floating apples with his mouth. The doctor thinks that Desmond, who is Irish, of course, and whose aunt is descended from Irish kings, is ill, but we know that he went to the land of the ever-young for a time. An inimitably puckish spirit has been breathed into the story, and, if the fine phrasing is a little beyond the children, sympathetic mothers and nurses will delight in reading and translating it to them. The book is very well got up, and would make a charming present for a good boy.

CUPID MISREPRESENTED.

Any glamour or shreds of romance which modern sophistry might have left attached to our conception of love would be torn ruthlessly away if we believed that this little book told the truth. Philosophy deals with ultimate realities, general causes and principles, which are made to toe the line of logic, as it were—a thing that love never could do. Mrs. Glyn's name and the title of her book are attractive, but all those readers who were guarded in their infant days by the good fairies will regret that they ever read such materialistic doctrines.

FRENCH TEXTS.

The Educational Company of Ireland is doing an excellent service to the cause of modern languages in its publication of French texts. "Le Tour de la France par deux Enfants," by M. Bruno, cannot but be interesting both to teachers and pupils: to the former because not a single word of English appears even in exercises and glossary—a most desirable asset if the language is to be a living one to students—and to the latter because the story of the two children is interesting in itself. The illustrations both assist the understanding and whet the curiosity.

FROM NEWTON TO EINSTEIN.

Dr. Harrow has compiled a most useful book giving the changing conceptions of the universe from Newton to Einstein. The only fault which we have to find with it is that it does not go far enough back, for not a few of the ideas of Einstein can be traced to Descartes. At the same time the author has given a competent account which will be intelligible to the reader who is not versed in science. No one can mistake the meaning of Dr. Harrow's clear explanations.

"From Newton to Einstein." By B. Harrow, Ph.D. London: Constable. 2/6.

RECENT FICTION.

Mr. Norman Douglas's latest book may be termed a fantasy. He gives us a beautiful princess, a magician named Theophilus, and a professional druidess. Furthermore, dragons and dwarfs are offered casually to our notice. Into this uncongenial company there plunges a blue-eyed Christian missionary from out the civilisation of Ireland, bent upon touching their pagan hearts. But the princess is concerned only with her delightful hobby of creating a town of sufficient beauty to satisfy her own conception of what is what. Any stranger might bring to her aid some novel art and, therefore, was to be encouraged; but when they ceased to be useful—"they went." Kenwyn, the preacher, wins a special regard, it is true, but then Theophilus, most wonderful of all magic-dealers, wills his sacrifice and cannot be gainsaid. Greatest marvel of all, however, is the magic tapestry thus deftly woven by Mr. Douglas; it defies comparison with any previous fairy lore.

"They Went." By Norman Douglas. Chapman and Hall. 7/6 net.

Mr. Herbert brings before us the grave consequences that may hang upon a seemingly slight vagary of fate. Stephen Byrne is a poet, the idol of his own select circle. Given the opportunity and actuated by a passing impulse after too much wine, he attempts to kiss the housemaid, Emily, and inadvertently strangles her. He invokes the aid of his staunch friend, John Egerton, to place the body in a sack and sink it in the Thames before the return of his wife to the house. John, simple-minded and quixotic, chiefly moved by a horror of what discovery would mean for Stephen's young wife, accords his help, and holds his tongue. In his working out of subsequent events Mr. Herbert keeps before him what would be likely to happen. The body of Emily is, of course, discovered and inquiries are made. John finds himself condemned to silence and under a cloud of suspicion. The ending is realistic and is robbed of sensation by the author's method.

"The House by the River." By A. P. Herbert. Methuen. 8/6 net.

"David Lyall" has added to her list of successes in "The Loop of Gold." The tale is told with much insight into the troubles which were bound to arise on the return home, after three years in Mesopotamia, of Jack Thurston, who had married a clever and pretty girl, below him in station, just before he left for the East. Winnie Tebbitt, the wife, had in his absence tasted the fruits of independence as a War Office clerk, and had carried on a harmless, but exciting, flirtation with her chief. Domesticity was not to her liking, especially when her husband turned out to have less money than she expected. Self-willed and selfish, she is gradually, if not very convincingly, driven to reconciliation, in effecting which her chum, Sally Withers, a delightful character, plays the chief part.

"The Loop of Gold." By David Lyall. Cassell. 7/6 net.

An alliance between the royal houses of Lyonesse and Offland strikes the reigning heads as being eminently suitable, and it is, of course, consistent with the customs of royalty that the young Prince Florian and the Princess Rosabella should be made acquainted with the scheme before they are acquainted with each other. Prince Florian—the time is fixed somewhere in the future, so that we may believe anything—is inclined to rebel, however, and it is in an individualistic and even hostile frame of mind that he starts upon his journey to woo the unknown. How he is kidnapped by a daring bandit, imprisoned in a secret mountain lair, and falls in love with the bandit's beautiful sister, is related in a charming fashion by Mr. Frankfort Moore. It would not be fair to disclose how and when the Princess Rosabella makes her appearance.

"The Courtship of Prince Charming." By F. Frankfort Moore. Collins. 7/6 net.

"The black knight," son of a defaulting father, goes to Canada to make his fortune. He does so by unofficially borrowing money from the bank in which he is employed, but just fails to return it in time, and goes to prison for two years. The love interest is not intruded until more than half the book has been read, and then it hardly fits. The hero suddenly reappears in a Paris gambling den, from which he rescues Nancy, whom he marries. Afterwards his past is discovered and they part. He gives his fortune to his father's creditors—not unusual in novels—and the end is happy. The descriptions of life in the great Canadian wheatfields are excellent, and, no doubt, the charming pen-pictures of Cornish life are contributed by Mrs. Sidgwick. If the story is not "gripping" in intensity, it is at least a convincing romance of adventure.

"OUTWARD BOUND."

The current issue of "Outward Bound," a new magazine published by Far and Near Publications, Ltd., contains a large amount of interesting and instructive information about the East. An article dealing with the "industrialism" that is claiming millions of women in China, India, Egypt, and Japan, is contributed by Maude Royden. Mr. Basil Mathews exposes the methods of drug traffickers, and also contributes an account of the growth and popularity of cinematograph exhibitions in the East. Included in "The World in Pictures" is a series of photographs illustrating the silk manufactures of Japan; and "Nights of Music in India," a description of the instrumental and vocal sounds of that country, is contributed by Mr. H. A. Popley. Mr. E. J. Thompson, M.C., writes an account of the life and work of Rabindranath Tagore, "the Poet Laureate of Asia." Mrs. Alice M. Pennell, M.B., B.Sc., describes the difficulties which beset the qualified doctor in dealing with illness in an Indian royal palace, and Mr. Alfred Noyes contributes a poem of characteristic power. "Every Race and the League of Nations" is from the pen of Lord Robert Cecil. The fiction pages include the first instalment of a new novel by John Buchan, a story of adventure in the South Seas by John Russell, and an Indian romance by an Indian woman writer. The magazine is well printed on good paper, and presents an attractive appearance.

IRISH TRADE PROBLEMS.

DISCUSSED AT CORK.

At the last meeting of the Council of the Cork Industrial Development Association, held in the offices, 27 Grand Parade, Cork, Mr. James Coleman, Hon. Treasurer, presided. The other members of the Council in attendance were:—C. Hobart, P. Crowley, M. O'Herlihy, E. Comm.; T. A. Conroy, M.A.; M. O'Sullivan, William Kelleher, William Egar, J. T. Keating, B.A.

A report was submitted regarding measures proposed to deal with complaints of inadequate shipping facilities into and out of the port of Cork. The Council commended the project formulated at a public meeting in the City Hall for the establishment of a new shipping company as one likely to lead to an extension of overseas trade. In the course of the discussion it was pointed out that, however willing the combine controlling the City of Cork Steam Packet Company may be to remedy the present cause of complaint, they were unlikely to view transportation problems from the point of view of the industrial and commercial interests of the South of Ireland. The Council agreed to aid in any way a new project that may lead to the extension and development of the commerce of Cork.

A discussion took place regarding the recent order of the British Admiralty prohibiting American-owned passenger vessels from entering the port of Cork on the east-bound voyage. It was pointed out that those vessels were being operated by the United States Mail Steamship Company, which claimed to be 100 per cent. American, under the direction of the United States Shipping [illegible], the route on which such vessels were [illegible] operate had been drawn up by the Shipping [illegible] early this year, and including Cork Harb[our] [illegible] the inward and outward voyages. In addi[tion] [illegible] giving a passenger service on all-Ame[rican] [illegible] ships between United States ports and Irela[nd] [illegible] the service was scheduled to give a passenger [service] [illegible] both ways between Ireland and the Continent of Europe.

A resolution was passed condemning the action of the British Government.

EMIGRATION FROM IRELAND.

A discussion also took place regarding emigration from Ireland. In the opinion of the Council, the only effective means of preventing emigration is the development of Irish agricultural resources and of Irish trade and industries. From reports received at the offices of the Association it was clear that economic, social, and political conditions were little better in other countries than in Ireland, and in many countries were worse than here. The Council felt that the best efforts of Irishmen were not yet being put forth for the economic development of the country, and that many profitable fields of enterprise were entirely undeveloped. It was pointed out as an instance of this that, while there was a development in Irish hosiery, most of the yarn had to be imported, and, while Irish woollen mills were busy, the raw material, wool, had to be exported.

The Council was prepared to consider any applications made for financial aid required for the development of local industries, as it believed that such aid could be obtained if a practical proposition was put before it.

SWISS PEAT INDUSTRY.

An informing report compiled by Count Gerald O'Kelly, Berne, dealing with the peat industry in Switzerland, shows the increasing substitution of peat in that country. Owing to the growing shortage of coal in the latter period of the late war, attention was turned to peat as a substitute. Coal in pre-war days was easily and cheaply obtainable from Germany, and was in general use for industrial purposes. At first, the report states, there was difficulty in inducing consumers to use peat, to which they were quite unaccustomed, but once that difficulty was overcome the peat industry advanced rapidly. The Swiss peat bogs are all extremely small, being merely peat-bearing pockets in the various valleys. In almost every case the surface was arable or pasture, which greatly increased the capital outlay necessary for exploiting the peat. Bogs with an area of from two acres up are deemed worth exploiting mechanically. Indeed, one of the best organised concerns had little more than a couple of acres of ground. The report gives figures of peat-cutting concerns, the number of these operated by hand and by machinery. The total number of workers employed is approximately 10,000, and the annual output of dried peat is almost 500,000 tons. Of this total, only about 100,000 tons is produced by hand. In view of the undeveloped state of Ireland's important peat resources, the commercial position of the Swiss peat industry, which is, in area, comparatively limited, suggests how little has been done to increase the present output from our Irish peat bogs.

THE IRISH RAINFALL ASSOCIATION.

REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER, 1920.

September was an unsettled month, with sudden changes, and deficient in sunshine. It was rather cool, with several ground frosts. There were equinoctial gales at the end of the month, chiefly from a southerly direction. ### Coalition Policy.

During the last few weeks nobody has thought about politics in the familiar sense of the word. Parliament has not been sitting, and, in any case, the coal crisis, with its grave issues and its thrilling fluctuations, would have pushed ordinary politics out of the public mind. The menace of an empty grate is a far more important matter for most people than the fate of bills and the reputations of their authors. Ireland, of course, is a political problem, and Viscount Morley, Viscount Grey, and Mr. Asquith have brought it forward in letters to The Times; but their words have been swept away by the fierce winds that blow from Ireland. Their plans of "settlement" are touched with unreality at a time when this country is torn by all the passions and violences of civil war. Besides, these statesmen are not the Government, and the Government's plans for Ireland, whether they be good or bad, are the only plans that count. To-day, however, we are reminded that a new political season approaches, and that politicians of all parties are loosening their swords in the scabbard for the battles of another session of Parliament. The Prime Minister is on tour in his beloved Wales. He spoke at Llandudno yesterday on the general situation, and in a speech to-day at Carnarvon, which is awaited eagerly, he will deal with Irish affairs. Yesterday he adopted his usual tactics of carrying the war into the enemy's camp. His speech was a spirited vindication of the Coalition Government, and it is not less effective because, during the larger part of it, he was slaying the slain. The country decided long ago that a Coalition was needed for the purposes of war and for the domestic difficulties which the war created, and that, on the whole, it has justified its existence. Mr. Asquith's criticism of the Coalition is peculiarly unconvincing, for, as the Prime Minister said yesterday, he might have been its leader now but for the "mishap" of 1916. The country may sympathise with disappointed ambition, but will not accept it as a basis of political argument.

The value of the Coalition during the years of war needs no proof, and, indeed, is not contested. The question of its value since the restoration of peace is a legitimate subject of controversy, but we think that Mr. Lloyd George and his colleagues have no reason to fear honest criticism. They have made many mistakes—more than the Prime Minister is prepared to admit—but, on the whole, they have served their country well. The unsatisfactory nature, in some respects, of the Peace Treaty was not the fault of British statesmanship. We may be certain that it would have been still more unsatisfactory if British authority at Versailles had been weakened by political dissensions at home. After the Peace Treaty the country was confronted with a complexity of economic problems which demanded instant solution. The whole fabric of industry had been disorganised; the food problem was urgent; a speedy restoration of the balance of employment was a vital necessity. All these problems were solved more or less successfully and with the minimum of delay. It is easy now to realise how differently matters might have developed if a strong Government, representing the two traditional parties in the State, had not held the reins of office. In the case of every emergency measure speed was of the essence of the contract. If a Unionist Government had been in power and a strong Liberal Party in opposition—or vice versa—every measure would have been forced to run the gauntlet of long and angry debate. It may be admitted that some of them would have profited by more ample examination and discussion, but in those critical days delay often would have been fatal. The measures were passed as occasion required, and the problems were tackled vigorously. The net result is that the country has survived, without any radical loss or harm, one of the most trying and most dangerous ordeals in its history. Judged by that result—which is the only true test—the Coalition has done well. The onus of proof that any single-party Government could have done better, or even half so well, lies upon the Coalition's critics. None shows any anxiety to essay the task.

There has been some speculation about Mr. Lloyd George's future policy. It has been rumoured that the next General Election may find him once more a full-blooded Radical, with a programme which must involve a complete dissolution of his partnership with the Coalition Unionists. We can find no hint of any such intention in his latest speech. On the contrary, it records his conviction that the country's paramount interests demand a further lease of life for the Coalition Government. The "ship is not yet saved"; its pilot through the storms of war and reconstruction is still on the bridge, and, apparently, means to stay there. The great issue of the moment is peace and good-will at home and abroad. Europe is still unsettled. The fate of Russia still hangs in the balance. Even if a coal strike is averted, the near future may precipitate in some other form a momentous conflict between the claims of a minority and the rights of the community. Finally, there is Ireland, whose political problem, the Prime Minister predicts, will be solved by a Coalition Government. He did not say, by the present Coalition Government; but, if an early settlement is in his mind, we shall be in a better position to consider its prospects of success when we have read to-day's speech at Carnarvon. It will be a vital speech if it presents an Irish policy in any detail; for Ireland, at least as much as any other factor, must decide the future of the Coalition Government. Governments cannot live on their records, and the Prime Minister's appeal implies that the Coalition has a policy not only for Ireland, but in all the main departments of home and foreign affairs. Apart from Ireland, there are two matters on which the country requires full and early statements of Government policy. One is our relations with Bolshevist Russia; the other is the Cabinet's plans for the reduction of national expenditure. On the former the Prime Minister was silent yesterday, and his reference to the latter was trivial and disappointing.

Ill-fated Armenia.

While America—whose President guaranteed her freedom—is engaged in party warfare, Armenia is threatened with extinction. She is fighting valiantly, but against fearful odds. Bolsheviks, Turks, and Tartars have attacked her in turn, and now they have combined their forces in a desperate effort to overwhelm her. In this iniquitous plot the Turks play the leading part. A large Turkish force has crossed the Armenian frontier and has advanced in the direction of Kars. Men, women, and children have been put to the sword, and the declared intention of the Turkish commander is to occupy the whole province. Under the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk Kars and Ardahan were ceded to Turkey, but that agreement, of course, has long been a dead letter. It was formally annulled by the Allied Treaties with Germany and Turkey, in which the Armenian frontiers were defined with clearness and precision. The little Armenian army is offering a stout resistance to the raiders, but it cannot stay their progress. Several towns have been evacuated, and Sarikamish is closely invested. When it falls the Armenian forces in the south-west will be in an untenable position. Simultaneously with the Turkish invasion the Bolsheviks have launched a strong offensive on the north-east frontier and forced the Armenians back towards Alexandropal. The guiding spirit in these operations is Kiazim Kara Bekir, Mustapha Kemal's alter ego, who has large forces of regular Nationalist forces under his command. Some time ago there was a disposition in certain quarters to interpret the differences in tactics between the Nationalist leaders as a real breach. It was even suggested that it might be possible to detach Kiazim to the side of the Entente. It is now clear, however, that both leaders were striving towards the same end, and that the sole difference between them was one of tactics. Mustapha Kemal wanted a spectacular patriotic campaign against the Greeks, while Kiazim insisted that it was necessary to retire before the Greeks and consolidate the position by crushing Armenia and establishing direct connection with Moscow. His scheme carried the day. It received powerful support from Enver Pasha, who is at present enjoying Lenin's hospitality, and has been appointed "Commander-in-Chief of the Soviet Armies of the East." Therefore, the Greek front has been liquidated, and the full strength of the Bolshevist-Turkish forces has been concentrated in an effort to wrest from Armenia her newly-won freedom. The Armenians have issued a cry for help, and the Allied Powers have received full information about their desperate position. So far, however, nothing has been done. The Greeks, it is true, have sought permission to send an expeditionary corps to Trebizond, whence it could attack the Turks in the flank, but this has not been granted. The situation is so serious that it calls for prompt decisions and courageous action. Delay will do infinite harm. It will encourage the Turks in the belief that they can violate the Peace Treaty with impunity, and will give a tinge of truth to the infamous falsehoods that Bolshevist agents are circulating throughout the Near East. Every country that signed the Peace Treaty has a vital interest in the matter; every country's prestige demands that it shall not stand by and see Armenia perish by fire and the sword.

Germany's Children.

Germany has provided an astonishing paradox. Although the whole population has been on short rations for six years the death-rate among children is lower to-day than it was at the beginning of the century. In 1901 about twenty out of every thousand infants born in Germany died in their first year. From that time the number fell steadily until it reached the lowest recorded figure, 13.6, in 1916. In the following year there was a rise to 15.5, but the fall was resumed in 1918, when the proportion was 15.4. Later figures for the whole country are not available, but the Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift reveals the remarkable fact that in the Government district of Duesseldorf—an almost purely industrial area—infantile mortality last year was at the rate of only 10.6 per thousand. This decline was all the more notable because it coincided with an increase in the birth-rate. It upsets all the current stories about "children dying like flies" in famished Germany, and shows that the vitality of the race is as strong as ever it was. Professor Schlossmann draws some valuable lessons from the statistics. He says that they provide complete proof that "over-feeding, and especially over-feeding with unnatural nourishment, is one of the chief causes of high infantile mortality," and that the abnormal death-rate among children in summer is caused by two factors—"heat and too much nourishment." The dearth of cows' milk has protected German infants from the latter danger during the last few years, and has compelled mothers to let nature take its course. Professor Schlossmann's revelations provide food for thought for everybody who is interested in child welfare schemes.

Postal Charges.

According to the French Under-Secretary for Posts and Telegraphs, the International Postal Congress, now in session at Madrid, proposes to increase the foreign postal rates by 100 per cent. Letters are to cost fivepence for the first ounce and twopence for every additional ounce, and the book post rate will be a penny for the first two ounces, twopence for three or four ounces, and twopence for every additional four ounces. Increases are inevitable, but the Congress's schedule seems to be far too severe. When it is remembered that a letter can be sent from Dublin to San Francisco for twopence-halfpenny, it is difficult to understand why it should be necessary to charge fivepence for a letter from Dublin to Paris. In 1914 the time seemed to be at hand when an international penny postage would be instituted. The penny letter now, unhappily, is only a memory in every European country; but, in view of the fact that even in France the carriage of a letter costs only twenty-five centimes, there seems to be very little justification for doubling the present international rate. Europe's great need to-day is not to heap up huge profits for the Post Offices, but to get the wheels of trade running smoothly and at full speed. Heavy postal charges will tend to restrict intercourse between the countries and to retard trade. Governments cannot afford to ignore that fact.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, FRIDAY NIGHT.

There does not seem to be anything fresh in the Prime Minister's speech at Llandudno unless it be his rather cryptic comparison of Mr. Asquith to Jehosaphat. I suppose that the reference is to the fact that the Jewish King entered into an unfortunate coalition with his Israelitish brother-monarch, and then, when things went badly with it, ran away. But in justice to the ex-Premier it should be remembered that the Coalition deserted him before he deserted the Coalition. Mr. Lloyd George, however, is probably quite right in saying that in the present conditions of the world Coalitions are inevitable. In fact, "motley is your only wear."

The Ilford by-election result will be a great shock for the Labour Party, and an even greater one for the "Wee Frees." A duly accredited Liberal candidate of good standing has been defeated by Mr. Joe King, a candidate very few people took seriously. The Coalition Unionist, Mr. Wise, gets a majority of more than 9,000 over Mr. King. What an effect this decision would have had a fortnight ago, for its value at that moment would have been immense! Even now, belated as it is, it comes in time to show that the Government is still strongly supported by the sturdy, middle working-class, so strongly in evidence at Ilford.

I wonder whether the Ilford result will hasten or retard the movement for a "fusion" between the Liberal and Labour Parties, which some of the younger Asquithians are trying to promote. It is plain that, unless they can arrive at some working arrangement both in Parliament and the constituencies, their chances of displacing the Coalition before its five years' term is up are decidedly remote. But so far, I understand, little progress has been made; there are too many capitalists in the one camp, and too many communists in the other, to allow them to come to terms.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, General Macready, and Sir John Anderson have left London for Ireland, but it is quite possible that one or more of the group may return within the next few days. Much is hoped in Government circles from the deputation of prominent Irishmen which the Prime Minister is to receive before the meeting of Parliament. The constitution of the deputation is not yet known at Downing street, but it is thought that it will be one of a thoroughly representative character.

Mr. Smillie has done what he can to secure the support of the miners for the datum line proposal, but any recommendation of the chief of the Miners' Federation must suffer from his past speeches and works. The extremists are now working hard to secure the rejection of the proposal, and to this end they are making a very free use of Mr. Smillie's previous statements in support of their attitude. The very men who were the most ardent supporters of Mr. Smillie are now calling upon the miners to reject his advice—and going even further by demanding that he shall retire. The feeling is growing that a number of the miners intend to bring about a strike, whatever the consequences to the country may be.

Now that the miners are to take a second ballot on the coal situation, there is much point in the reminder to-day by Sir John Rees that the safeguards attending a Parliamentary ballot are wanting in these ballots of trade unionists. An attempt to remedy this state of things was made during the last session in a Bill introduced by Mr. A. M. Samuel, which, while not making a secret ballot compulsory, would have enabled trade unions to take ballots secretly if it was so desired. The Bill received a second reading, but passed the Committee stage too late to get on the Statute Book. There seems to be reason for the revival of such a Bill.

Sir Robert Horne, who is spending a well earned holiday in Scotland, is to be entertained to-morrow by the Glasgow Rotary Club, and it is understood that he intends to make an important speech on the coal issue.

The West End is getting out its flags and decoration for the welcome to the Prince of Wales on Monday, and it is probable that the whole line of route will be gaily bedecked. In Whitehall the Government offices are being decorated in a severely plain, but effective, manner. The scheme will be quite good if enough flags are used, but official decorations are apt to be sparse.

At lunch-time to-day I heard a club member offering to lay 3 to 1 on Mitchell for the golf final at Richmond and finding no takers. The result justified his confidence, but not without some exciting moments, for at one time in the morning round Taylor was three up, and, if he could have maintained his putting form in the afternoon, he might just have won. But Mitchell thoroughly deserved his victory, for, though showing some signs of fatigue, he maintained his form to the last, and played like the champion that he means to be before many years are over. It is noteworthy that, unlike some of our sporting heroes, both the finalists served as soldiers in the great war—Mitchell in the Royal Artillery and Taylor, who is five years his senior, in the Royal Air Force.

Some amusement was caused in informed circles to-day by the careful announcement made by a morning paper that Cardinal Bourne, at the marriage of the Duke of Alba yesterday, wore his Cardinal's hat. Most people know that a Cardinal's hat is rather like a royal crown; it is often spoken of, but seldom seen. Probably most Cardinals have never worn their official hats, and it is easy to imagine that any one of them would present rather an interesting appearance if seen in public balancing a large red saucer-like headdress, weighed down by an infinity of tassels on either side. Probably the Cardinal was wearing a scarlet biretta.

The tremendous increase in local rates is causing considerable anxiety in Government circles, it now being recognised that some steps must be taken to reduce the burden that threatens to weigh the householder down. A great proportion of the increase is due to the activities of the Government departments, and the end is not yet in sight, for the Education Act is not yet really in force. It is quite time that there was an inquiry of some kind into a situation that is becoming serious. In many places the rates now approximate to the rent, and in some they considerably exceed it.

The ventilation of the House of Commons for years has been a reproach to the builders, and the fact has been recognised by the Office of Works, who several times have tried to have the matter remedied. A scientific investigation is now taking place. Sir Alfred Mond has sought the aid of the Director of the National Physical Laboratory, and experiments are to be made at Teddington with a specially built miniature House of Commons to see if something can be done. At the same time the lighting of the House is to be improved and the present dim religious light removed.

THE "IRISH TIMES."
The difficulty concerning the distribution of the "Irish Times" in Dublin has been adjusted, and copies of the paper can be had at all newsagents. We have been requested by the Newsagents' Association to state that no political consideration was involved in the matter.

DUBLIN POST OFFICE PROMOTIONS.
The Postmaster-General announces the following promotions in the Central Telegraph Office, Amiens street, Dublin:—
Mr. P. J. Mullaly to be Superintendent.
The undermentioned to be up-graded as Assistant Superintendents of the higher status:—Messrs. William Doyle, W. Whelan, Edward Doherty, Frank J. Murphy, R. W. Durno, and J. P. Kermode.

The Coalition Unionist, Mr. Wise, gets a majority of more than 9,000 over Mr. King. What an effect this decision would have had a fortnight ago, for its value at that moment would have been immense! Even now, belated as it is, it comes in time to show that the Government is still strongly supported by the sturdy, middle working-class, so strongly in evidence at Ilford.

I wonder whether the Ilford result will hasten or retard the movement for a "fusion" between the Liberal and Labour Parties, which some of the younger Asquithians are trying to promote. It is plain that, unless they can arrive at some working arrangement both in Parliament and the constituencies, their chances of displacing the Coalition before its five years' term is up are decidedly remote. But so far, I understand, little progress has been made; there are too many capitalists in the one camp, and too many communists in the other, to allow them to come to terms.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, General Macready, and Sir John Anderson have left London for Ireland, but it is quite possible that one or more of the group may return within the next few days. Much is hoped in Government circles from the deputation of prominent Irishmen which the Prime Minister is to receive before the meeting of Parliament. The constitution of the deputation is not yet known at Downing street, but it is thought that it will be one of a thoroughly representative character.

Mr. Smillie has done what he can to secure the support of the miners for the datum line proposal, but any recommendation of the chief of the Miners' Federation must suffer from his past speeches and works. The extremists are now working hard to secure the rejection of the proposal, and to this end they are making a very free use of Mr. Smillie's previous statements in support of their attitude. The very men who were the most ardent supporters of Mr. Smillie are now calling upon the miners to reject his advice—and going even further by demanding that he shall retire. The feeling is growing that a number of the miners intend to bring about a strike, whatever the consequences to the country may be.

Now that the miners are to take a second ballot on the coal situation, there is much point in the reminder to-day by Sir John Rees that the safeguards attending a Parliamentary ballot are wanting in these ballots of trade unionists. An attempt to remedy this state of things was made during the last session in a Bill introduced by Mr. A. M. Samuel, which, while not making a secret ballot compulsory, would have enabled trade unions to take ballots secretly if it was so desired. The Bill received a second reading, but passed the Committee stage too late to get on the Statute Book. There seems to be reason for the revival of such a Bill.

Sir Robert Horne, who is spending a well earned holiday in Scotland, is to be entertained to-morrow by the Glasgow Rotary Club, and it is understood that he intends to make an important speech on the coal issue.

The West End is getting out its flags and decoration for the welcome to the Prince of Wales on Monday, and it is probable that the whole line of route will be gaily bedecked. In Whitehall the Government offices are being decorated in a severely plain, but effective, manner. The scheme will be quite good if enough flags are used, but official decorations are apt to be sparse.

At lunch-time to-day I heard a club member offering to lay 5 to 1 on Mitchell for the golf final at Richmond and finding no takers. The result justified his confidence, but not without some exciting moments, for at one time in the morning round Taylor was three up, and, if he could have maintained his putting form in the afternoon, he might just have won. But Mitchell thoroughly deserved his victory, for, though showing some signs of fatigue, he maintained his form to the last, and played like the champion that he means to be before many years are over. It is noteworthy that, unlike some of our sporting heroes, both the finalists served as soldiers in the great war—Mitchell in the Royal Artillery and Taylor, who is five years his senior, in the Royal Air Force.

Some amusement was caused in informed circles to-day by the careful announcement made by a morning paper that Cardinal Bourne, at the marriage of the Duke of Alba yesterday, wore his Cardinal's hat. Most people know that a Cardinal's hat is rather like a royal crown; it is often spoken of, but seldom seen. Probably most Cardinals have never worn their official hats, and it is easy to imagine that any one of them would present rather an interesting appearance if seen in public balancing a large red saucer-like headdress, weighed down by an infinity of tassels on either side. Probably the Cardinal was wearing a scarlet biretta.

The tremendous increase in local rates is causing considerable anxiety in Government circles, it now being recognised that some steps must be taken to reduce the burden that threatens to weigh the householder down. A great proportion of the increase is due to the activities of the Government departments, and the end is not yet in sight, for the Education Act is not yet really in force. It is quite time that there was an inquiry of some kind into a situation that is becoming serious. In many places the rates now approximate to the rent, and in some they considerably exceed it.

The ventilation of the House of Commons for years has been a reproach to the builders, and the fact has been recognised by the Office of Works, who several times have tried to have the matter remedied. A scientific investigation is now taking place. Sir Alfred Mond has sought the aid of the Director of the National Physical Laboratory, and experiments are to be made at Teddington with a specially built miniature House of Commons to see if something can be done. At the same time the lighting of the House is to be improved and the present dim religious light removed.

THE "IRISH TIMES."

The difficulty concerning the distribution of the "Irish Times" in Dublin has been adjusted, and copies of the paper can be had at all newsagents. We have been requested by the Newsagents' Association to state that no political consideration was involved in the matter.

DUBLIN POST OFFICE PROMOTIONS.

The Postmaster-General announces the following promotions in the Central Telegraph Office, Amiens street, Dublin:—

Mr. P. J. Mullaly to be Superintendent.

The undermentioned to be up-graded as Assistant Superintendents of the higher status:—Messrs. William Doyle, W. Whelan, Edward Doherty, Frank J. Murphy, R. Mc Durno, and J. P. Kermode.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

AN IRISH NAVY.

Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, writing to The Times to-day, says:—You, and most other people, would think it absurd if I were to attempt to take part in the discussion of the political side of the Irish question. I have no intention of doing so, but, perhaps, you will allow me to make a remark or two in connection with its naval side. Mr. Asquith has just told us that in his opinion it would amount to "insanity" if a self-governing Ireland were to start a Navy of its own. I fully agree with Mr Asquith. It would be insanity. There is a great deal more of that particular kind of insanity in the world than is generally perceived. Every independent or self-governing country which has a seaboard desires to make its Navy, and—pretty nearly always—manages to get one. Yet a naval force is about the most costly thing that human ingenuity has ever devised. Also, it tends to become more and more costly. If you have a Navy, and wish to prevent it from becoming ridiculous, you must resign yourself to the necessity of periodically, and at short intervals, "scrapping" material which not very long before had cost you a lot of money. Some pestilent inventor is perpetually coming forward with some novelty which you must, or believe you must, pay for heavily or your Navy will be left hopelessly behind other Navies. This does not prevent small, and far from wealthy, countries from determining to have naval forces. In fact, a Navy to many independent and self-governing countries is what a dress suit is to a young man just out of his 'teens—viz., a thing that he says he cannot, and that he certainly will not, try to do without. It costs money, but it is "the thing" to have it. So there you are!

THE PRIME MINISTER AT LLANDUDNO.

The Times, in a leading article to-day dealing with Mr. Lloyd George's speech at Llandudno, says:—The people of this country, we fancy, are growing tired of verbal agilities, flippancies, phrases and quips. They care very little for the personal differences between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Asquith. They care still less for party labels. They are anxious to know whether public affairs are being honestly managed by sincere men, and are not sure that the record of the Government bears out the Prime Minister's professions. Most of Mr. Lloyd George's profuse arguments in defence of Coalitions are in reality beside the point. When his Coalition Administration succeeded the Asquith Coalition Cabinet at the end of 1916 it was because the country felt that a different quality of Coalition, or rather a Coalition animated by a different spirit, was needed to prosecute the war with vigour to victory. Even now the country is not disposed to condemn Coalitions in themselves, but rather to question whether the Lloyd George Administration is the best kind of Coalition to manage its business at this critical juncture. That is the real issue.

BETTER OUTLOOK IN COAL CRISIS.

The Labour Correspondent of The Times writes to-day:—There were further indications yesterday that the influences working for peace in the coal industry were holding their own, if not actually making headway against the strong opposition that has swept through the delegate meetings of the different Miners' Associations. There was a real danger two days ago, that opinion would be carried strongly in one direction for want of a lead on the part of those of the miners' officials who have, for a longer or shorter time, been steadily heading a movement for a settlement which, whatever its objections from the miners' point of view, does hold out a sure promise of an immediate and substantial increase of wages. It looked as though in Yorkshire, for instance, Mr. H. Smith, who was even before Mr. Smillie convinced of the necessity for retrieving the wrong steps taken in the first instance, had misjudged the support he could rely on in his own Association. The Yorkshire Miners' Council went right against the advice he gave. That did not dispose of the advice. It will penetrate every miners' lodge in the country, and, supported by Mr. Smillie's, will not fail of effect. There is once again a possibility of the Northern minority against a strike becoming powerful enough to render a strike impossible. It is not so at present, but the men who will not have a datum line at any price have received a check. Mr. Smillie, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Straker (Northumberland) are a formidable group of opponents.

FEAR OF WINTER UNEMPLOYMENT.

The prospect of unemployment during the coming winter has been receiving the attention of the Cabinet for some time, and various plans have been submitted and considered, states The Times to-day. The main scheme for finding work for the unemployed is that submitted by Sir Henry Maybury, Director-General of the Roads Department of the Ministry of Transport. This provides for the construction of roads in the vicinity of large towns, where they are urgently required to relieve congested traffic. The preliminary work would not call for skilled labour, and would provide the maximum amount of employment in return for the money expended. The Cabinet, it is understood, has not yet arrived at any definite decision. The financing of the relief works presents a difficulty. The responsibility for the work undertaken will probably be placed upon the local authority, but, with local rates rising all over the country, special provision for financing the relief schemes will be necessary. The Labour Party, of which Mr. William Adamson is Chairman, is very deeply concerned at the present state of the Labour market. The growing unemployment is regarded by the party as the most disquieting symptom of home politics, and the question will be brought before Parliament at the earliest possible date.

RUSSIAN DEBT AND DENIALS.

The Times understands that many leading insurance companies, acting through their chairmen, have sent a strong appeal to the Prime Minister against the proposed trade agreement with the Russian Government. They submit to his consideration that the unconditional recognition of the Russian international debt (at present repudiated by the Soviet Government), and the restoration of all property belonging to British subjects in Russia, and confiscated or nationalised by the Soviet Government, must precede any return to commercial relations between the two countries. Full compensation should be given where such restoration is impossible. The wholesale repudiation of Russian debt, and the denial of the rights of individuals, have, they argue, outlawed Russia from the comity of honest traders. To resume trade with Russia until she has purged herself of this reproach would tend to lower the whole standard of commercial morality. To suggest that these questions could be left to the conclusion of peace with Russia would go a long way in order to obtain a commercial agreement. The agreement once granted, the only chance of obtaining justice for the British bondholder would have vanished.

THE PRINCE NEARING HOME.

A Special Correspondent of The Times on board the Renown sends the following message under yesterday's date:—The Renown, conveying the Prince back to England, is now more than half-way across the Atlantic and ahead of schedule time. Portsmouth should, therefore, be reached easily by Monday morning, in accordance with the programme. The voyage, so far, has been smooth, with some fog. The Prince is well rested, and looking forward to a pleasurable home-coming after his prolonged tour, which has been as strenuous to himself as inspiring to all who have had the privilege of accompanying him. Looking back upon it all, the thought which, perhaps, predominates is that of the overwhelming nature of the demonstration it has evoked of the reality of the spirit of oneness within the Empire looking to the Throne as the symbol of the lasting bonds of consanguinity and sympathy that unite the whole.

PARLIAMENT AND THE UNIVERSITIES.

Speaking at Birmingham University yesterday in support of an appeal for half a million of money to enable the Governors to meet the new financial position, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, said that in the testing time of the war the teaching staffs of the Universities rendered services without which it was difficult to see how we could have won the victory. We have spent for many years, said the Chancellor, immense sums on elementary education, we have spent considerable sums on secondary education, we have spent all too little on university education. (Applause.) This is a day in which we must be cautious in our expenditure, but I think I can assure you that the Government are ready to back their opinion of the importance of University work, and that it rests with the universities and their local supporters to say whether they will place themselves in a position to take full advantage of the help which the Government is ready to give.

APPOINTMENT OF DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS

With the approval of the Lords Justices, the Earl of Courtown, His Majesty's Lieutenant of the County of Wexford, has appointed Major-General Beauchamp John Colclough Doran, C.B., of Ely House, Wexford, and Sir George Ruthven Le Hunte, G.C.M.G., of Artramont, Wexford, to be Deputy Lieutenants for Wexford County.

THE REPARATIONS PROBLEM.

FRANCE AND THE GERMAN PROPOSALS.

LORD CURZON'S NOTE.

PROPOSED CONFERENCE OF EXPERTS.

In a message, dated Paris, Friday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—M. Charles Laurent, French Ambassador at Berlin, had a consultation yesterday with the Premier, on the subject of the German proposals in regard to the reparations question.

At the conclusion of the conversation, M. Leygues told the Petit Parisien representative that the German Government had submitted the outlines of a scheme which it is proposed to enforce, both for the reconstruction of the devastated regions, and for the payment, in kind, of the German indemnity. The new proposals are, however, no more acceptable than those made at Spa, which, in fact, they closely resemble.

The Echo de Paris states that the French Government recently received an important Note from London, on the reparations problem. In this, Lord Curzon pointed out that the Powers agreed at Spa to appoint experts to meet at Geneva, on or about August 8th, to deal with the question of reparations, but when Great Britain proposed, by circular Note, on September 2nd, to open the financial discussions on September 24, France replied by refusing. Lord Curzon expressed the hope that this non possumus attitude was not definite. He urged the necessity for an early convocation of the Conference of Experts, and went even further by suggesting that this Conference should be followed by a really International Congress, on the Spa model, with the object of translating the plans formally drawn up by the specialists into a definite Convention.

PETROGRAD'S PLIGHT.

FAMINE, FILTH, AND DEATH.

The description by an eye-witness of conditions in Petrograd has reached the American Red Cross here, says the Paris Correspondent of the Press Association. It is included in an "Appeal to the Red Cross Societies of the World," prepared by Professor Zeidler, formerly head of the Petrograd Branch of the Russian Red Cross, but now a refugee in Finland. The statement says in part:—Petrograd's present population, according to the food cards, amounts to from 500,000 to 600,000. The fuel situation was never so bad. Wooden houses are being torn down for fuel. The material is distributed equally among the population, but during the night the more energetic citizens steal from others. The wood yards have been nationalised. One of them has been given up entirely to the manufacture of thirty thousand coffins a month, but this number is insufficient. People have no time to bury the dead, and bodies have to take their turn—a wait of several days. Workmen now receive half a pound of bread daily, and sometimes other food. The mortality has reached a startling rate, owing to lack of food and the insanitary conditions of houses and streets. The dirt and filth are indescribable. They are on every side. When the plumbing gets out of order it remains unrepaired. Whole houses become filthy from top to bottom, and it becomes impossible to live in them.

Petrograd is facing a dreadful phantom of epidemics. Thousands are already dying every month of spotted fever, abdominal and intermittent typhus, dysentery, influenza, smallpox, pulmonary diseases and hunger exhaustion. The "healthy" people of Petrograd have puffed faces, baggy eyes and sallow complexions. They are suffering from hunger-dropsy.

The situation in the hospitals is appallingly bad, physicians being underfed and unable to attend to the numbers of patients assigned to them, while hospital requisites and food are quite inadequate.

CORPORATION AND TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITALS.

AUDIT OF THE ACCOUNTS REFUSED.

In connection with the threatened closing of the tuberculosis hospitals controlled by the Dublin Corporation, owing to the stoppage of the Government grants, because the Council declines to submit to the authority of the Local Government Board, a meeting was held in the Mansion House on Thursday. There were present the Lord Mayor, Dr. McWalter, and the Chairman of the Tuberculosis Committee, representing the Corporation; the President of the College of Physicians, the President of the College of Surgeons, the President of the Academy of Medicine, the Governor of the Apothecaries' Hall, and Dr. James Ashe.

The position of the tuberculosis hospitals was discussed, and the Lord Mayor and his two colleagues agreed to put before the next meeting of the Council the recommendation of the medical gentlemen who had met them, that the Council should allow the accounts to be audited by the Local Government Board as heretofore.

The matter was under consideration at a meeting of a Committee of the Whole House of the Corporation yesterday, and by nine votes to seven the recommendation was rejected.

The subject of the hospitals will come before a meeting of the Corporation on Tuesday.

ILFORD ELECTION RESULT.

The figures at the last election were:—

| Majority over Labour | 11,249 |

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.

FRIDAY.

Sir John Anderson and Mrs. More O'Ferrall arrived at the Lodge to-day.

Mr. Mark and the Lady Rachel Sturgis, General Sir Bryan and Lady Mahon, Colonel and Mrs. Pilkington, and Miss Wyndham Quin had the honour of being invited to dine with His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge this evening.

THE COURT LEAVES SCOTLAND.

The King and Queen, with Princess Mary, left Ballater Station at 5.20 yesterday afternoon in the London and North-Western Company's Royal train, en route for London. The journey from Balmoral was made by motor. At the station a Guard of Honour of the 2nd Gordon Highlanders, under the command of Captain Sprot, was drawn up. After inspecting the guard, the King entered the station, where he presented Mr. William M. Grant, stationmaster, with the M.V.O. medal. His Majesty "grassed" three stags on Thursday.

THE BANK OF IRELAND.

Consequent upon the retirement of Mr. Thomas R. Lanphier from the Secretaryship of the Bank of Ireland, Mr. Robert Jones Buckley, Assistant Secretary, has been appointed Secretary. Mr. Alfred G. Fleming, formerly Chief Cashier, has also retired from the service of the bank, and is succeeded by Mr. Samuel H. Hinton, Deputy Cashier, who has been appointed agent of the Dublin branch and chief cashier.

COWARDLY OUTRAGE AT BRAY.

LADY'S TERRIFYING ORDEAL.

A cowardly outrage and robbery are reported to have taken place in the early hours of yesterday morning at Bray. About 2 a.m. two armed and masked men entered the house of Mr. Patrick Fox, 1 Jones's terrace, Bray, and covering Mr. and Mrs. Fox with their weapons ordered them downstairs from their bedroom. They demanded money, and gagged and bound Mrs. Fox to a chair. They then took the rings off her fingers, and cut off her hair. Keeping Mr. Fox covered with a revolver the robbers searched and secured the sum of £13. One of the ruffians wantonly fired bullets through a picture of Blessed Oliver Plunket.

A Mrs. Quinn, Dargle road, Little Bray, reports that a lodger of hers, who spoke with an English accent, has disappeared, and £30 is missing from the house.

"CURFEW" ORDER REMOVED.

Our Galway Correspondent states that yesterday afternoon it was announced that Brigadier-General Chaplain, the Competent Military Authority for the Galway area, had ordered the Curfew Order to be temporarily removed as from last night. The word "temporarily" is taken to mean that the permanent removal of the Curfew will depend upon the view that the military authorities take of the future conduct of the people. The Curfew Order has been in force in Galway for exactly a month, having been imposed on September 10th.

POLISH AFFAIRS

THE FRONTIER QUESTION.

The following official communiqué was issued at Warsaw yesterday:—The situation is unchanged. East of Zwiakol we dispersed three Soviet regiments, and captured one hundred prisoners.

In a message, dated Warsaw, Friday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The Commission appointed by the League of Nations to consider the questions in dispute between Poland and Lithuania has fixed, in agreement with the interested parties, as a provisional frontier, the line of December 8th last. This line stretches from the German frontier to the confluence of the Igorka with the Niemen, and along the course of the Niemen as far as Uchir, to the south of Marath. The Polish and Lithuanian troops are to be withdrawn six kilometres from this line.

WRANGEL'S ADVANCE.

BOLSHEVIK DIVISIONS ROUTED.

Reuter's Agency learns that the Russian Liberation Committee has received communication of the following message, dated Constantinople, Thursday:—"According to wireless telegrams, dated October 2nd and 3rd, to the north of Volnovka General Wrangel's troops have routed, and are in pursuit of, two Bolshevist infantry and one cavalry divisions, recently arrived at the front. We have captured 1,000 prisoners, one gun, and machine guns. To the east of Gulaipole we expelled two cavalry regiments from Tourkenovka village. In the direction of Sinelnikovo we took 2,000 prisoners, two armoured trains, three trains, two guns, and many machine guns."

A wireless message, dated October 7th, reports no change at the front.

BOLSHEVIKS EVACUATING PERSIA.

It is announced in Paris, from Teheran, that the Bolsheviks are evacuating Persia, and that the evacuation of Baku is also decided upon.

MESOPOTAMIA.

SAMAWA RELIEF COLUMN.

The War Office yesterday issued the following report with reference to Mesopotamia:—On the Lower Euphrates the relief column moving on Samawa reached Khidr, twelve miles south-east of Samawa, on the 5th, without encountering any resistance. Reconnoitring aeroplanes report no large hostile forces between Khidr and Samawa. Small parties of mounted rebels scattered on being fired at by our machines. A half-hearted attack on Samawa camp was repulsed by the garrison.

The Arabs have again set fire to the railway bridge over the Euphrates at Bakuba, just north of the town, but without doing it much damage.

On the Upper Euphrates telegraphic communication has been restored between Bagdad and Ramode. Forces which attacked our column near Mahmudie, twenty miles south-east of Bagdad, on the 4th were bombed and machine-gunned on the 5th by our aeroplanes.

Elsewhere the situation is unchanged.

It is stated authoritatively that there is no truth in the report that more troops are under orders to proceed from India to Mesopotamia in December. As a matter of fact, there is no need or intention to reinforce the present strength of the garrison there.

AMERICA AND IRELAND.

THE PROPOSED COMMITTEE OF INQUIRY.

It is announced to-day, says a Press Association telegram, dated New York, September 27, that two United States Senators, a Protestant clergyman, an editor, and a Mayor, have been added to the membership of the Committee of one hundred on Ireland. They are United States Senators Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, and Joseph Randell, of Louisiana; Rev. William Austin Smith, editor of the Churchman, the official organ of the Protestant Episcopal Church, New York; and Mr. F. C. Beck, Mayor of Toledo, Ohio. The Committee was formed for the purpose of investigating impartially conditions in Ireland, with special reference to reported atrocities. The Committee to-day sent cable messages to Ireland, requesting the Acting Lord Mayor of Cork, the Lord Mayors of Belfast, Londonderry, and Thurles (sic); the Chairman of the Council of Lisburn, and Mr. George Russell (Æ), Irish publicist and associate of Sir Horace Plunkett, to come to this country to testify before a Commission of five members of the Committee, which will hold public hearings in Washington. The Committee announced that a list of all persons asked to appear before the Commission, with a letter stating that no impediment will be placed in the way of the witnesses, and that there will be no reprisals, was sent to Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador at Washington. The Ambassador was requested to transmit the list to the British Government. The list was also sent to Mr. de Valera, now in New York. The Committee stated that about half of its membership had made selections for members of the Commission of five, the personnel of which would be announced in a few days.

THE LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

Last night it was stated that the Lord Mayor of Cork was slightly weaker.

The condition of the hunger-strikers in Cork Jail is unchanged. The Deputy Lord Mayor received the following telegram yesterday:—"Brixton, 11.55. No appreciable change.—Father Dominic."

GALWAY COURTMARTIAL SCENE.

SON SAVES HIS FATHER.

There was a dramatic scene at a District Courtmartial in Galway yesterday, when James Reynolds, foreman railway porter at Galway Station, who resides at Queen's street, was charged under the Restoration of Order Act with having 37 rounds of ammunition and a copy of the official organ of the Irish Volunteers in his possession.

A military officer deposed to the ammunition being found in a trunk in the house of the accused. The official organ of the Irish Volunteers was in a bedroom.

The accused, who pleaded "not guilty," denied all knowledge of the articles, and was given an excellent character by the police and other witnesses.

The Court having, at the request of the prosecutor, been cleared of all save the parties concerned and the Press,

The solicitor for the accused called the accused's son to give evidence. He stated that the ammunition and document belonged to him.

The accused was thereupon found "not guilty," and discharged, and when the son had got outside the Courthouse he was placed under arrest, and taken to Galway Jail in an armoured car.

BELFAST POST OFFICE RAIDED.

MILITARY SEIZE THE MAILS.

A party of military in a motor lorry drove to the Charlemont street entrance of the G.P.O., Belfast, shortly after eleven o'clock yesterday morning. Armed sentries were placed at the doors, and prevented the public from entering or leaving. The soldiers then proceeded to seize all mails in the Post Office. The raid took place at the busiest hour of the day. The morning mails were pouring in from Holyhead, Stranraer, Dublin, Londonderry, and all over the country, and the entire postal delivery, which usually goes out on the midday distribution, was seized. The military took about an hour to carry out the raid, and it was not till a few minutes before twelve that the lorry drove off, piled high with bags.

MILITARY ACTIVITY IN DUBLIN.

Shortly after ten o'clock last night a military search party visited Banba Hall, Dublin, the headquarters of the Grocers' Assistants' Union, and examined the contents of a number of rooms. A meeting of the Electrical Trade Union was in progress in one room, and the Dublin assistant teachers were in conference in another, while a social club was holding a dance in a hall at the rear. Soldiers were placed on guard outside the various rooms, and nobody was allowed to pass in or out of the building during the search. An officer entered the room of the grocers' assistants, and searched them, and a number of other persons, including some of the men at the dance, were searched. No seizures or arrests were made.

"SINN FEIN COURT BROKEN UP."

In connection with the report of the suppression of a Sinn Fein "Court" in Claremorris which was published on Wednesday, Mr. P. R. Hughes, D.C., writes to us as follows:—"Your report regarding raid on Sinn Fein 'Court' at Claremorris is inaccurate. The raid was carried out with courtesy by two officers, and no drawn revolvers were produced."

The belief that the victims of the motor car accident at Brussels on Thursday night were the wives of British delegates to the Financial Conference, has been found to be erroneous. They were secretaries to the League of Nations, detached for duties at the Financial Congress. It is now ascertained that their names were Miss Wood, who was killed, and Miss Nyet, who was injured.

"ON THE BRIDGE."

PREMIER'S DEFENCE OF THE COALITION.

MR. ASQUITH CRITICISED.

NEED OF INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

HOME RULE: A PROPHECY.

The Prime Minister delivered a speech on the Coalition Government at the annual meeting of the Welsh National Liberal Council at Llandudno yesterday. The Premier, who was accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd George, was re-elected President of the Council at a mass meeting, presided over by Lord St. Davids, of hundreds of delegates from all parts of the Principality.

Mr. Lloyd George, who was the guest of Lord Colwyn at Colwyn Bay, spent the morning at golf. He drove to the Pier Pavilion, where the meeting was held, in a closed car. A tremendous crowd gathered to meet him, and cheered wildly as he approached. Inside the pavilion his reception was equally inspiring. The gathering numbered between four and five thousand. When Mr. Lloyd George appeared everyone rose and cheered, the demonstration lasting for several minutes. Mrs. Lloyd George was presented with a bouquet and a box of chocolates.

The Prime Minister, who spoke for nearly an hour and a half, devoted his speech almost entirely to a vindication of the Coalition Government. He said that the war was essentially a struggle in which Liberalism was specially concerned. They fought for every principle dear to them and against every evil which they dreaded. He, amongst millions of Liberals, threw the whole of his strength into the struggle. He thanked his Welsh fellow-Liberals for the indulgence and confidence which they extended to him. They did not pursue him with suspicions. He regretted he was not fortunate enough to secure the same confidence from all Liberals. He viewed that suspicion with bewildered pain. He never could understand, he could only feel it had nothing to do with Liberalism. At the election of 1918, when he was engaging the whole of his energies in directing the war, he had the same criticism from the same quarters, with the same bitterness and the same unreason. He regretted it, and that was why he thanked his fellow-countrymen for their support.

MR. ASQUITH'S POSITION.

Referring to the Coalition formed by Mr. Asquith in 1915, Mr. Lloyd George remarked—"If the Coalition is a sin againt Liberalism, then Mr. Asquith is Jehosophat." (Laughter.) If it had not been for the mishap of 1916 Mr. Asquith would have now been at the head of a Coalition half Liberal and half Conservative, and he would have been defending Mr. Asquith. Coalition did not mean a surrender of principle. You do not surrender your principles when you combine with men of different principles for objects of economy, declared the Premier. It is the national need which renders it necessary to get the best men of all parties together to save Europe, to save the world. (Applause.) National security, national honour, national existence, are not issues between any parties, and when they are challenged and jeopardised men of all classes, creeds, sects, and parties come to their aid.

AMERICA'S AID.

The United States was the only country that had not formed a Coalition Government. The United States was not involved in the war as the countries of Europe were. It came in late and put forth colossal efforts. Its assistance was crucial and determinate, but it had no time to make the same sacrifices as the other belligerent countries. The burdens of war in America were heavy, but not comparable with those of Europe. The conflict of parties in America had so resulted that they had not yet signed the Treaty of Peace with Germany. With a conflict like that in England they would have had no peace and there would have been no Treaty. There were some who criticised the Treaty of Versailles, but better that than a state of war going on for years and nothing done. The world had to be helped out of its difficulties.

ON THE BRIDGE.

"I am standing on the bridge," exclaimed Mr. Lloyd George, amidst ringing cheers. "I have stood through much bad weather, and it has rather bleached my hair. But the weather is not settled yet. There are still hurricanes, and we are not out of the danger zone. You look ahead and see typhoons on the horizon, and I can see gallant ships, like Russia and others, lying dismantled in the trough of the waves. Do not send anyone down until the ship is saved. (Applause.) Now you begin to understand why I was in no hurry to call off the crew before the ship is saved. I can take responsibility before God. I would rather face all misrepresentations, all suspicions, and all revilings rather than not do my duty to the end."

The great issue of the moment was peace and good-will at home and abroad. In dealing with that there was no principle at issue between the parties. He could say honestly that he had striven for peace with all his heart. It was difficult to make peace with Russia. Her Government broke pledges, made pretence of making peace, and then insidiously took advantage of it to try to poison the atmosphere of our own country.

Peace at home was very necessary and very urgent. There was at one time a danger that the three great industries which were more intimately concerned with the life of the nation than any others—miners, railwaymen, and transport workers—should combine in a great hold-up of the community. He could not think of any greater peril that the community could face. "I will tell you quite simply my view about it," said Mr. Lloyd George. "I am all for strict fairness, for justice, and for equity when you are dealing with every demand which comes from men who contribute to the wealth of the nation; but I am equally resolved that, whatever happens, you cannot surrender the rights of the community to any minority, however powerful they may be. If a minority can hold up the community by denying to them the necessities of life, there is an end to democratic government." (Applause.) If they once failed to face such demands, they would grow until the country would be governed by Juntas who represented the minority, and there would be an end to free government." There were two methods of settling the controversy. One was by the decision of an impartial tribunal, and the other was the method upon which the miners were balloting—that an increase in wages should correspond to an increase in output. All the Government asked was that the miners should produce the same quantity of coal as was produced in the first quarter of the year. The miners would then get their two-shilling increase, and, if the output still increased, they would get an extra half-crown or three shillings a day. He was very glad that the miners' leader, who was a man of exceptional personality and great courage, had had the greatest courage of facing his friends and advising them to accept. He was very hopeful that common-sense and reason would triumph.

The Premier declared that the Government was as anxious for economy as anyone when economy could be effected without damaging the public services. They were told to put an end to the grandiose Ministry of Transport. The Transport Ministry at the present time cost a quarter of a farthing in the pound of the income tax. He had heard the widow's mite quoted as a proof of devotion, but never as a proof of extravagance. (Laughter.) The country knew by instinct, the Prime Minister continued, that the Coalition was essential. If the Independent Liberal Party was the sole inheritor of Liberalism, then what a bad way must Liberalism be in! But Liberalism was never stronger and reaction never less popular. The country realised that this was not a time for faction fights, but for united action to save the country from its perils and dangers.

HOME RULE FOR IRELAND.

Times of coalition were most productive for reform in this country, and he predicted that Home Rule for Ireland would be carried by a Coalition. It was folly to describe the Coalition as a time of sterility. It only sterilised party passions, party prejudices, party negligence, grabbing and waste of time. They were no longer prospecting for quarrels. They had had a great quarrel which drenched Europe in blood. All classes had faced common dangers with the same heroism, and made the same common sacrifices. Do not let them crush into the rigid, narrow mould of party the gift of great sacrifice which millions had made. Let them stand together, and so solve the problems and difficulties which stood in the way of humanity's path to higher things. (Cheers.)

A resolution re-electing the Premier as President of the Council was unanimously carried.

The only note of opposition was sounder by Mr. Llewelyn Williams, who criticsed the Government's policy in Ireland. He met with loud opposition, and the Chairman had frequently to call for order.

Replying in Welsh to the resolution which re-elected him,

The Premier said that the confidence of the whole world would not compensate him if he thought that his fellow-citizens were against him.

Subsequently Mr. Lloyd George visited the Town Hall, where he had a conversation with ex-service men, who placed before him their difficulties in obtaining work. Mr. Lloyd George pointed out that but for the regulations of the trade unions many ex-service men could be taken into the building trade. That, said the Prime Minister, ought not to be, and it is one of the things I am going to apply myself to without delay. A Cabinet Committee had been investigating this question, and as soon as the trouble with the miners was settled he would devote himself to this matter with a view to its settlement.

SOLDIERS BOMBED.

ONE KILLED AND THREE WOUNDED.

DARING OUTRAGE IN CORK CITY.

THREE CIVILIANS IN HOSPITAL.

The following official report was issued from General Headquarters, Dublin, yesterday:—

At 9 a.m. to-day a military lorry driving into Barrack street, Cork, found its progress blocked by a waggon drawn across the road. As it came to a standstill four bombs were hurled at the lorry, two of which exploded in it. Four soldiers were hit, one of them dying almost immediately. Fire was then opened on the lorry from several houses in the street, and was replied to by the uninjured soldiers. During the mêlée three civilians were wounded.

Our Cork Correspondent writes:—While a military motor lorry was being driven up Barrack street, Cork, at 8.40 a.m. yesterday morning with stores for Elizabeth Fort it was heavily bombed by civilians from the corner of Cove street, and the military, who were taken completely by surprise, suffered heavily.

Six soldiers were in charge of the vehicle at the time, two occupying the driver's seat, and the remainder sitting on the goods. Four bombs of the type used in attacks upon police barracks were hurled at them.

One exploded in the centre of the lorry, blowing an arm off one of the soldiers and inflicting injuries from which he died shortly afterwards. Three others were dangerously wounded.

The street was crowded at the time with men, women, and children, the former going to work and the children to school, and scenes of terror followed as they fled in all directions. The unwounded soldiers fired about twenty rounds in the direction from which the bombs were thrown, with what result is not known.

The streets were quickly cleared. It was then found that two men and a girl had received jagged wounds from fragments of bombs, and they were taken to the South Infirmary, where they were detained. The dead soldier and his wounded comrades were conveyed to the military hospital. The condition of the wounded men is said to be precarious. Their names cannot be ascertained.

Later, when the military and police arrived on the scene, it is stated that they were fired at by civilians, and they returned the fire, and some damage to glass in houses in Barrack street resulted.

The injured at the South Infirmary are Thomas Madden, 16 Evergreen street, wine porter, aged 25, wounds in the calves of both legs from bomb splinters; Denis Buckley, 107 Horgan's Buildings, packer, aged 36, bomb wounds in calf of leg, hip, and shoulder; and Kate Fitzgerald, 52 Prosperity square, off Barrack street, aged 27, capmaker, bomb wounds in one leg and hip. They state that they did not know how they had been wounded, and collapsed from hemorrhage. Drs. Shanahan and O'Sullivan, of the extern staff, and Drs. Hannan and Ring (intern) did all that was possible for the patients, who will later be X-rayed and operated upon for the removal of the bomb fragments. Their condition is regarded as serious.

Two of the bombs exploded on the roadway, and probably caused the civilian casualties. One which failed to explode is in the possession of the Constabulary. The Presentation Brothers Schools are situate close to the scene of the ambush, and the children had narrow escapes.

At the time of the attack a large body of policemen were due to pass this point from Elizabeth Fort on their way to duty, and it is believed that the persons engaged in the attack were in wait for them, and were induced to change their plans by the arrival of the lorry.

No arrests have been made.

COURT OF INQUIRY OPENED.

THE ATTACK DESCRIBED.

At the Cork Barracks this evening a Court of Inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, was held for the purpose of investigating the death of Private John Gordon Squibbs, who lost his life in the attack on the lorry this morning.

A lance-corporal stated that at 8.30 he left Victoria Barracks for Fort Elizabeth. At Barrack street a horse and cart blocked the way, and the driver had to slow down. About seven men came out of Cove street, and commenced throwing stones at the lorry. He fired one round, and they went away to the left. Directly afterwards about four bombs were thrown at the lorry, of which one entered it. He saw Private Squibbs stoop down as if to pick it up, and the bomb exploded underneath the lorry. In the ruins of an old building he saw twenty or thirty civilians, four of whom came out and opened fire on them with revolvers. The other civilians retired, firing as they went. The witness fired fifteen rounds, and the escort also returned the fire. He had six men with him, but only four of them were firing. Three other members of the escort were hit during the attack.

Another soldier corroborated. He saw Private Squibbs lying in the lorry with one hand blown off. He was then alive.

A corporal swore that Squibbs was 18 years of age, unmarried, and a native of the Isle of Wight.

A military doctor said that about 10 o'clock Private Squibbs was brought to the hospital dead. There was a gunshot wound in the chest, a gunshot wound in the middle of the back, another gunshot wound in the left arm, portion of the hand being completely brown off, also a gunshot wound on the left side of the scrotum, and other wounds on both thighs and the left shoulder. All the wounds, with the possible exception of one on the left shoulder, could have been caused by bombs. In his opinion death was due to shock and hemorrhage following the wounds.

The Court then adjourned until to-morrow morning.

THE CITY AT NIGHT.

Telegraphing at an early hour this morning our Cork Correspondent says that very few people were abroad during the evening or night, and some of those living in the Southern area, where the military were attacked, left the locality, fearing reprisals, and spent the night with friends in the suburbs. Considerable tension prevails in the city. At the various places of entertainment the audiences were sparse.

The military showed much activity during the night. At twenty minutes to ten o'clock the Curfew patrols arrived in the streets, and many persons were stopped and searched.

ANOTHER TYRONE AMBUSH

A CONSTABLE WOUNDED.

An official telegram received at Dublin Castle states that three constables from Cookstown were protecting a postman, who was carrying old age pensions money at Dunamore, at 11.30 a.m. on Friday, when they were ambushed and fired upon by twenty armed and masked men. One of the constables was hit in the back of the neck. The others were uninjured. They returned the fire of the attackers, and, although greatly outnumbered, managed to make their escape with no further loss than two caps and two bicycles. One of the ambushing party was seen to have been wounded.

Our Cookstown Correspondent telegraphs:—Another attack on the police took place in the Dunamore district on Friday morning. As it was the day for paying the old age pensions, the postman from Cookstown to Tulnacross had an armed police escort, consisting of Constables Dennison, Cairns, and Fox, all mounted on cycles. Constable Dennison rode in front. When about 1½ miles from Tulnacross, in the townland of Dunamore, the party was fired on from behind a high hedge at a place where there is a lane. The police were at the foot of the hill when the order came "Hands up."

Almost immediately the attacking party opened fire. The police dismounted and returned the fire, meantime retreating, as the raiders numbered about a dozen, and were armed with rifles as well as revolvers.

In the retreat Constable Dennison was shot by pellets in the back of the neck. His comrades stood with him, and the attacking party made off. A farm cart that was passing was stopped by the police, and Constable Dennison was brought back to Tulnacross Post Office, from which there is telegraphic communication with Cookstown.

District Inspector Hall quickly got a relief force out on motors, while a doctor went immediately on his motor cycle to the wounded man, and rendered first aid. The constable was subsequently brought back to Cookstown.

The police are searching the country for the raiders.

GALWAY CLERGYMAN RELEASED.

It was learned at Galway this morning, says our Galway Correspondent in a telegram yesterday, that a preliminary inquiry had been held yesterday by the military authorities regarding the charges on which the Rev. M. Morley, C.C., was arrested at Headford. A summary of the evidence was taken, and it was announced subsequently that Father Morley would be tried on Tuesday next under the Restoration of Order Act by district court-martial. It is understood that the charge on which he had been arrested was the possession of a fowling-piece and some ammunition. This afternoon, however, it was learned that, following the preliminary inquiry, Father Morley had been released and motored back to his parish, and it was added that it is altogether unlikely that any further steps will be taken by the military authorities, or that the reverend gentleman will be asked to stand any trial by court-martial or otherwise.

THE FEAKLE AMBUSH.

TWO POLICEMEN KILLED.

Further official details have been received in Dublin Castle with respect to the attack on the police in Feakle, County Clare. It appears that a sergeant and five constables left the local R.I.C. barracks at half-past eleven o'clock in the morning to go to the post office. They went in twos and at intervals of twenty yards. As they got to the post office fire was opened on them from the upper windows of the post office and the upper windows of adjoining houses and from the other side of the road. They were thus in a triangle of fire. Constable Stanley, who was one of the first two, was shot dead. Sergeant Doherty, the second of the first two, who was walking at Constable Stanley's side, fell at the same time and place and died about an hour afterwards. Constable Murphy, of the second pair, was wounded on the thigh and fell, and his comrade pulled him over the fence. They both then opened fire on the attackers. The last pair of constables took shelter and also opened fire. These four men got back to the barrack, fire being continued on them the whole way. The bodies of Sergeant Doherty and Constable Stanley were recovered later in the day. Their rifles and accoutrements had been taken away.

Our Ennis Correspondent telegraphs:—Further details of the shooting show that there was no attack on the barracks, as at first reported, but that a party of policemen was ambushed when going to the local post office at 11.30 o'clock. The police, five in number, were proceeding in couples, with one man in the rear, and when passing the cemetery on the way to the office, which is about a quarter of a mile outside the village, a volley of shots rang out from behind the roadside wall.

Constable Stanley fell dead, his back being terribly injured. Sergeant Doherty received such injuries that he died in a short time, and Constable Murphy received a flesh wound in the leg.

Constable Stanley was a native of Cork, and was a married man, with four children. Sergeant Doherty belonged to the Mohill district of Co. Leitrim, and was unmarried.

A WEEK'S OUTRAGES IN IRELAND.

An official statement made yesterday by the authorities at Dublin Castle shows that serious outrages for the week ending the 5th instant decreased in the total amount of political crime, but there was no diminution in the number of attacks upon the forces of the Crown.

The police casualties during the week were eight killed and eight wounded, as compared with ten killed and seven wounded in the previous week. The number of policemen attacked, however, increased from eight to twenty-two.

Arrests for outrages and political offences during the week fell from 133 to 55, but it should be remembered that the former figure included forty arrests made recently in the round-up made by members of the auxiliary police of Irish Volunteers while engaged in bombing practice on the Dublin Mountains.

The courts-martial during the week numbered 72 trials, in which there were fifty convictions and twenty-two acquittals. In three cases the convictions and sentences were not confirmed. The sentences comprised imprisonment in twenty-two cases, ranging from two years to one month, without hard labour in sixteen cases, and fines ranging from £5 to £2 in nine cases.

The recruiting figures for the R.I.C. were again highly satisfactory. After deducting deaths, retirements, resignations, the net increase in strength during the week was 206 in the regular police, and 23 in the auxiliary division.

Captain Lendrum, of Kilkee, whose dead body was discovered during the week, was the third resident magistrate to fall a victim to assassination within the past eighteen months.

THE O'CONOR DON AND CRIME.

A MODERATE SINN FEINER'S PROTEST.

Replying to a letter that appeared in the Roscommon Messenger from Mr. W. M. Jonston, Bre-Cree, Maintoir, Erie, in support of the O'Conor Don's suggestion of a public meeting to find a way to peace, the O'Conor Don writes:—"I would willingly call a meeting if the time were ripe for it, but I find it is not, and I greatly fear that things will have to get far worse before the peaceful element in this country will be roused to action and speak out. What earthly good can be gained by such attacks as that of the Frenchpark Barracks, which instantly leads to the destruction of my little village of Blanagare? Even if the people succeeded in destroying the barracks and killing the police, what then? Would they be any nearer getting self-government? Not one bit; not even if they killed all the police in Ireland. It is a senseless policy, which can only lead to the disgrace of our good name and the utter ruin of Ireland. Sinn Feiner as I am, I shall never have anything to do with the party so long as such things are sanctioned. It is time we moderate Sinn Feiners spoke out and cried shame at such doings. I don't care what the consequences may be, I am ready to follow any body of men who will act sanely in the cause of true freedom and cry a halt to crime on both sides. But as yet I am crying in the desert, and shall be told I am only putting myself and my property in jeopardy. So be it. As the present representative of the house of O'Conor, I would prefer destruction than that my name should go down to posterity as one who was afraid to speak out in such times as these, or as one who loved himself better than his country. I want Ireland free and prosperous, but never at the cost of such senseless and despicable crimes as are now being committed throughout the land."

INCIDENTS IN THE PROVINCES.

For the third time the Borrisokane monthly Petty Sessions were held in the ruins of the burned courthouse.

On Friday morning at 2 a.m. a raid took place at Carnan, but in this case the inmates of the house did not retaliate, and after firing into the windows the raiders left.

As a set-off to the stoppage of Government grants the Roscrea No. 1 and No. 2 Rural Councils have refused payment of the instalments of loans to the Board of Works.

At the Birr Quarter Sessions Judge Fleming awarded a sum of £6,884 compensation for malicious damage, chiefly the burning of police barracks.

Lieutenant Morley Turner, Lincolnshire Regiment, who was seriously injured in the shooting incident near Dundrum, Co. Tipperary, a week ago, is recovering.

Mr. Frank Kelly, Rural District Councillor, Ballyvourney, was arrested by the military from Macroom on Wednesday evening. He was secretary of the local branch of the Gaelic League.

A party of masked and armed men visited the house of a farmer at Hullcastle, Co. Wexford, and, under the threat of taking his life, demanded the sum of £10. On receiving a sum of £7 they left.

There have been no Petty Sessions held at Ballynacargy, seven miles from Mullingar, for the past six months, and the publicans' licence renewals in the district have not yet been signed.

Michael Collins, the young Abbeyfeale man who was arrested on Thursday morning, was taken through the town in a military motor lorry and released when carried some distance on the road to Newcastle West.

An order made by the Lords Justices under the Restoration of Order in Ireland Act was published in the Dublin Gazette last night prohibiting the holding of inquests by coroners and juries in the counties of Queen's County and Donegal, and the County Borough of Waterford.

While hearing a claim for malicious damage at Lifford yesterday, when the applicant said that in consequence of threats made to him he had to leave his house, Judge Cook said that people were obliged to leave the county because the Government were not capable of grasping the nettle and putting down the terrorism that prevailed.

A number of raids for arms have taken place recently in the Ardboe district, in Stewartstown and Coagh police districts, County Tyrone. In one case a party of masked men appeared at 8.30 p.m. at the back door of a farmhouse and demanded arms. The farmer's wife slammed the door in their faces and bolted it before they were aware, and told her sons, who ran upstairs and opened fire, dispersing them.

Much excitement was caused in the Mealagh district of County Cork on Thursday evening, when a large military and police force swooped down on the place, in search of a party of Sinn Feiners, who, it is alleged, seized in the Caheragh district six horses, the property of men who had refused to pay fines imposed by Republican Courts. The raiders were supposed to be in hiding in the former district. Neither the men nor the horses were found.

Yesterday, at Kilmacthomas, the train due at Waterford from Dungarvan at 9.30 was boarded by about a dozen armed and masked men, who searched every carriage. The object of the search was to discover and prevent jurors from attending the county criminal Quarter Sessions at Waterford. There being no criminal business, the jurors had been notified that their attendance was not necessary, and none of them was on the train. The raiders wore trench coats, masks, and goggles.

Hundreds of tons of roof fell at Anthony Colliery, Rhondda Valley, yesterday, killing three miners.

DUBLIN SHIPPING STRIKE.

A CRITICAL SITUATION.

THOUSANDS OF WORKERS INVOLVED.

The situation at the port of Dublin, consequent on the strike of seamen and firemen, yesterday continued to be of a critical character. On inquiry at the offices of the National Union of Seamen and Firemen in Dublin it was ascertained that the Irish Secretary, Mr. Bennett, has not yet resumed duty, and that there was no news of any fresh development in Dublin. It is understood that Mr. Bennett is in England in connection with the strike, and that he is in touch with the leaders of the organisation, who have not given their sanction to the strike. He may be engaged in direct negotiation with the shipowners, but no definite information was available on the point.

At the offices of the Irish Transport Workers' Union it was stated that, should there be no improvement in the situation, some 10,000 members of the organisation will be out of work on Monday next. A large number of quayside workers are already out of work, and more are being paid off from day to day. Thousands of permanent employés are under notice, and the majority of these notices will terminate on Monday. Inquiries at the offices of the shipping companies in Dublin elicited the information that no new development had taken place so far as the employers' side of the dispute was concerned. As indicating the extent of the trouble, it may be mentioned that the British and Irish Steam Packet Company have usually about ten sailings weekly—two to Liverpool, three or four to Manchester, three to London, and one to Plymouth and Southampton. These sailings are now entirely suspended, and eight or nine vessels of the company were yesterday lying up in the Liffey. As these vessels are being cleared of cargo men are being paid off.

SHIPPING COMPANIES AFFECTED.

The lines involved in the dispute at present include the British and Irish, the Coast Line, the City of Dublin Mersey cargo boats, the Tedcastle-McCormick boats, the Laird Line, the Heysham boats, and Michael Murphy and Co. The Burns Line and the Bristol boats have not, so far, been affected, but there is every possibility of their being involved. In normal times there were upwards of half-a-dozen sailings for cross-Channel ports from the Liffey daily with cattle, sheep, pigs, agricultural produce, and general cargo, and these vessels returned with cargoes of foodstuffs and various commodities. The effect of the holding up of this entire traffic may readily be appreciated. With the exception of the passenger traffic via Holyhead, all direct communication with England was cut off, and no cattle or goods were being accepted yesterday by the companies for shipment to England. A continuance of such a state of affairs must have serious consequences both in Ireland and Great Britain. The cattle conveyed by the Great Northern Railway Company after Thursday's Dublin market included some 600 head for the dead meat factory at Drogheda, and it is understood that the Northern ports of Belfast and Greenore could not possibly cope with the demands for shipping facilities which would follow upon a prolonged paralysis of the port of Dublin. Even if facilities were available for shipment at the Northern ports, there is the possibility of men refusing to handle the goods in the event of the development of the trouble, which now seems imminent.

STRIKERS' VIEWS.

In the course of an interview with one of the men it was learned that the strikers were apprehensive that the Seamen's and Firemen's Union, of which they were members, might place crews on the deserted ships, and this would create an awkward situation; but even if it came to this, and they were backed by the Irish Transport Workers' Union, he held that they were bound to win in the long run. Another striker said that he did not believe Mr. Havelock Wilson would go so far as to place crews on the ships and "rat" on the members of his Union, but, if he did, there would be a very much larger extension of the strike.

There are about 300 seamen and firemen on strike, but so far they do not appear to have the backing of their own or any other trade union. The strikers held a meeting in the Catholic Seamen's Institute yesterday, which lasted for several hours. At its conclusion the Press were told that Mr. James Mangan presided, and a strike committee was appointed and a secretary elected, and it was agreed to carry on the struggle. A resolution was unanimously adopted demanding a provisional increase of £1 a week, pending the national settlement two months hence, and also demanding 3s. per hour overtime.

SHORE-WORKERS PAID OFF.

Yesterday hundreds of dockers, etc., regularly employed at the cross-Channel steamers running under "British and Irish" auspices from the former City of Dublin Line berths to Liverpool, Birkenhead, and Manchester were paid off. About fifty men are still being retained in their positions to attend to the clearing out of goods from transit sheds and stores, and these include both checkers and porters.

The Laird Line has already paid off the casual dockers who customarily load and unload their Heysham steamers, these boats no longer running, and other squads of men are disemployed by the stoppage of the Silloth and Douglas sailings of the Sloan Line, and the Cardiff and Swansea steamer sailings with goods and merchandise, which are conducted by the Dublin General Steamship Company (Michael Murphy, Ltd.).

The ss. Enda, of this line, continues her trade, it appears, between the Bristol Channel and Liverpool.

EXTENSION OF THE TROUBLE TO DUNDALK.

SHIPS' CREWS ON STRIKE.

Through the action of the crews of the boats of the Dundalk and Newry Steampacket Company in going on strike, the four boats of the company—three at Dundalk and one at Newry—are tied up, and since Tuesday there has been no sailing from either port. The live stock ready for shipment on Wednesday included over 12,000 sheep and 400 cattle, in addition to a large consignment of other goods. Some of the live stock had been outshipped from the previous sailing. October is the month of the company's largest shipments of live stock, and the strike is resulting in the sending of that stock either by Greenore or Belfast. About 100 men, the crews of the boats, are directly affected, but their action has resulted in a week's notice being given to the other workers at the company's various stations—considerable more than 200 men in addition.

The Dundalk Company is also suffering through the action of the local dockers in refusing to handle goods carted by Messrs. Wordie, the carters to the Great Northern Railway. The men refused to handle such goods as Messrs. Wordie had an office in Belfast. The result is that consignments by the Great Northern Railway, which formerly amounted to a considerable addition to the company's cargoes from Dundalk, are now sent by Belfast. The effect of the men's action has been to do a serious injury to the Dundalk Company, which is one of the few remaining independent carrying companies, and to benefit Belfast or English carrying companies.

MIDLAND FAIRS ADVERSELY AFFECTED.

Owing to the strike, bacon and pigs for cross-Channel sale remained unpurchased at all the Midland fairs this week. Prices generally fell 10s. per cent.

SOUTH OF IRELAND SERVICE SUSPENDED.

The shipping service between Waterford and Liverpool is completely suspended, and it is expected that the strike will extend to the Glasgow, Bristol and Fishguard routes.

The crew of the s.s. Eblana, of the Cork Steam Packet Company, have now ceased to work. In consequence of this there will be no sailing to Liverpool to-day, nor did the boat, which should have left for Fishguard yesterday evening, sail. It is the intention of the company to arrange for a vessel to sail for Bristol to-day, at two o'clock, to carry passengers, live stock, and general cargo.

THE COAL SITUATION.

The unofficial strike of miners in the Oldhill district of Staffordshire as a protest against the second ballot terminated yesterday, the whole of the men returning to work.

The North Staffordshire Miners' Federation are against the datum line proposals.

SHOOTING INCIDENT IN DUBLIN STREET.

Between half-past 9 and 10 o'clock last night, a police patrol on duty at James's street Fountain, near the Dublin Union, called upon a cyclist, who carried no light, to halt. The man dismounted, but, on the police approaching him, dropped his machine, and ran a few yards along the street. It is stated that he then turned, drew a revolver, and fired three shots at the patrol. The policemen fired two shots at the man, but he ran away and was lost to sight in the fog and darkness. Nobody appears to have been hit.

HOUSE BURNED BY ARMED MEN.

Our Limerick Correspondent telegraphs:—Armed men in two motor lorries from Limerick raided the house of Mrs. Brennan at Meelick, two miles from the city, shortly after midnight on Thursday, and burned the premises and furniture. The raiders wore long coats and soft hats, and they ordered Mrs. Brennan, a widow, and her daughter to leave the house forthwith, which they did, only to see their hay barn ablaze. Mrs. Brennan is mother of the Chairman of the Limerick Board of Guardians, Mr. A. Brennan; Mr. M. Brennan, Chairman of the Clare County Council, and Mr. Patrick Brennan, Clerk of the Limerick Union.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

FRANCE AND REPARATIONS

Commenting on Lord Curzon's Note to France respecting the question of reparations, the Paris Correspondent of the Morning Post says that he has authority for stating that France will stand firm by her resolve that the whole question must be dealt with, not at Geneva or elsewhere, but by the Reparations Commission as laid down in the Peace Treaty. The prevalent impression is that both French and Germans are much more desirous of coming to an understanding than they were a week ago. During the past few days the atmosphere has cleared considerably, and direct negotiations, if they have not already begun, may be announced very shortly.

The present situation in regard to the question of reparations (says a Paris telegram) is deeply exercising public opinion in France. It is firmly believed that Germany is not hastening to carry out her undertakings, but that she is, indeed, straining every nerve to evade responsibilities. The Temps, commenting on the British communications to France advocating the summoning of a conference to treat specially the problem of reparation, says:—This communication obviously cannot fail to furnish a pretext to the German papers to take up again the controversy on the abandonment of the Geneva Conference. It is not to be wondered at, consequently, if the attitude of the British Government arouses, on the other side of the Rhine, the hope that it may be actually possible for the Berlin Government to speculate usefully on divergencies of views arising between the Allies. The Temps adds:—Whatever the final French reply to the British communication, it is certain that the conversations between Paris and London will be pursued most amicably.

FAILURE OF LIBERAL HOME RULE SCHEMES.

Dealing with the Irish question, the Morning Post, in its leading article, points out how every Liberal scheme for Home Rule destroys every other, and says:—The Union remains, because no adequate substitute has been found. The Union remains in spite of itself, because there is no substitute. Even a Committee of Mr. Asquith and Lord Grey could not devise a scheme of self-government for Ireland without falling out about it. And if they disagree, what hope can we have of agreement anywhere?

MR. HOGG, M.P. AND AN IRISH REPUBLIC.

Mr. J. M. Hogge, M.P., Independent Liberal Whip, speaking at Musselburgh last night, said that he would willingly see a republic in Ireland if they had the necessary preliminary of the League of Nations. If they had all countries, including Germany, Austria, and Russia, in the League, and an agreed policy for armaments, there could then be no danger to this country from Ireland, either naval or military.

THE PREMIER'S SPEECH.

The Daily Chronicle says:—Mr. Lloyd George ridiculed the idea that when Liberals and Unionists come together to work in times of stress for a common end there is any sacrifice of principle. The dominant issues now before the world are issues in which party principles are not challenged. Differences of view—important differences—of course, exist, but by what conceivable advantage to the State would you drag in these differences when all are agreed upon the essential measures necessary to stave off disaster?

THE "BLACK-AND-TANS."

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

As a good deal of obscurity exists as to what constitutes the regular police force, the "Black-and-Tans," and the auxiliary force, an official explained yesterday that a good deal of odium has been thrown on the Black-and-Tan section, and quite wrongly, because this section of the force is not a detached section, and never works alone. While its members are recruits, they are kept in dépots, but as soon as they are passed out as proficient in police duties they are distributed in small numbers of twos and threes over the regular police garrisons of Ireland, and to attribute reprisals, or, indeed, any other acts in the country districts of Ireland as being the exclusive work of the Black-and-Tans is obviously unjust. The auxiliary force is quite a separate unit engaged on a temporary basis in a time of emergency. They are recruited mainly from ex-officers and ex-service men of similar educational attainments, and they begin their work with the rank and pay of sergeants. Their war experience is brought to bear in the defence of barracks and posts and made available to the police garrisons. Thus there are only two forces in the Irish police—the regular police (with "Black-and-Tans" as recruits) and the auxiliary police.

THE POPE AND IRELAND.

ARCHBISHOP HARTY AND BRITISH PROPAGANDA.

Acknowledging the receipt of a resolution of welcome passed by the North Tipperary County Council on his return from Rome, the Most Rev. Dr. Harty, Roman Catholic Archbishop, of Cashel wrote:—"I know that the Tipperary County Council fully understand the vast importance of having the case of Ireland placed fully before the Holy Father at a time when British propaganda is doing its best to malign the Irish race. The County Council can rest assured that His Holiness will not be deceived. He called Ireland 'a most faithful nation,' and said that the Irish people were 'most dear to his heart.' He is a loving father, who sympathises with us in our struggle for freedom. Cheered by his high sympathy, we can face the future with hearts full of hope that God will bless our cause, and grant us the victory that will bring peace to our persecuted nation. I am sure the North Tipperary County Council will take a manly and noble part in the great task that is before us. I wish them every blessing in their efforts to defend Irish liberty."

A CORK COURTMARTIAL.

At a court-martial in Cork yesterday Jeremiah Buckley, Mourneabbey, Co. Cork, a civilian, was charged with—(1) having two revolvers not under effective military control; (2) having ammunition not under effective military control—namely, fourteen revolver cartridges; (3) having in his possession a document relating to an unlawful association—a copy of the official organ of the Irish Volunteers; (4) having in his possession a document headed "The Irish Volunteers, G.H.Q., Dublin," addressed to "Brigade Commandant, Cork, 2nd Brigade," on the subject, "Collection of Arms"; (5) having in his possession a document addressed from the Irish Volunteers' G.H.Q., Dublin, Quartermaster-General's Department, addressed to the "Commandant, Cork No. 2," containing instructions for a return of arms; and (6) having in his possession a document, dated 27th May, 1920, containing particulars of the running, composition, and guards of a mail train.

The accused said that he knew nothing about the revolvers or ammunition, and pleaded "Not guilty" to all six charges.

Evidence was given, and the Court reserved judgment.

A verdict of death from natural causes was returned at an inquest in London yesterday on Mr. Henry Heinemann, the publisher. Medical evidence was given that the deceased suffered from a chronic nervous complaint, one of the consequences of which was blindness.

ENTHRONEMENT SERVICE AT KILDARE.

THE QUESTION OF REUNION

(FROM OUR REPORTER.)

KILDARE, FRIDAY.

The enthronement of the Most Rev. Dr. J. A. F. Gregg, Archbishop of Dublin, as Bishop of Kildare took place in the Cathedral Church of St. Brigid, Kildare, this afternoon, and the impressive ceremonial Service was attended by a large congregation. There was also a representative gathering of the clergy of the diocese.

The processional hymn was, "For all Thy saints who from their labours rest," during the singing of which the Archbishop was conducted to his seat in the sanctuary. The procession was headed by the choir, which was augmented from the choirs of neighbouring parishes for the occasion, and then came the clergy, who were followed by the Chapter of the Cathedral, represented by the following:—The Very Rev. Dean Waller, Rev. Chancellor G. R. Graham, Ven. Archdeacon J. Adams, Revs. Canons H. N. Craig, E. W. Clover, D. H. O'Connor, J. F. Cole, and G. Peacocke. The Archbishop's Registrar (Mr. W. H. Robinson) came next, and then the Dean, the Archbishop, and the latter's Chaplains, the Archdeacon of Leighlin and Rev. R. H. Bodel. After the usual prayers, the Registrar read and presented to the Dean the mandate from the Lord Primate and the House of Bishops for the enthronement, and the Archbishop then made the customary declaration, following which the Dean duly inducted, installed, and enthroned His Grace into the real, actual, and corporal possession of the Bishopric of Kildare. The ceremony was marked by much dignity.

Evensong followed, the Service being intoned by Canon H. N. Craig. The special Psalm was xx., and the Lessons were read by the Rev. Chancellor Graham and the Dean of Kildare. The Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were sung to Macpherson in D, and the anthem was "Lead me, Lord," the solo part being tastefully rendered by Mrs. Byrn. The musical portion of the Service was a striking feature, the organ accompaniments being played with much ability by the Rev. T. W. E. Drury.

THE ARCHBISHOP.

The Archbishop, in the course of his address to the congregation, said that they were there that day to witness the simple, but impressive, ceremony of the enthronement of a Bishop of Kildare. Succession was a law of the Church's life, a law whose ordered working had always counted for much with the historic Christian body. But succession, however continuous, reminded them of the changeableness that attended all things earthly, and it threw them back by way of contrast upon the twin fact of Church life—viz., abidingness—the abidingness which they found in the living Christ. There in that abidingness they had the ground, the security of the unbroken continuity of the Church's succession. The one remained, the many changed and passed. His Grace proceeded to develop a thought to which he had directed attention on the previous day in Christ Church Cathedral—the relation between Christ and His Church. He pointed out that they were members of an organism not rigid by inherited prescription, but adapting itself to the needs of its in-dwelling life. The Church was not a dead crystallisation; flexibility was the condition of its health—flexibility in order to adjust itself to what it newly learned of God, and flexibility in order that it might live more faithfully and usefully in its environment in the world. The conditions of a true discharge of its duty by the Church were correspondence with the God Who lived in it and correspondence with the society in which it lived. The Church was sorely tempted to become a creature of established custom, of use and wont. But if it was to be the true interpreter of God to the world it must be awake and alert for every call to readjust itself. It must reconcile the demand for abidingness with the demand for adaptability. It was ever the same, because it was incorporated with Him Who is the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever; and yet, though old, it must be for ever new, because new demands were for ever confronting it. There were those, and they were very many, who rejoiced to paint the ideal Church as immutable. A far truer view, to his mind, was that of a Church which could learn and could also unlearn. Take as an illustration the attitude of the Anglican Communion to reunion. The day had gone by when one could be satisfied with an isolation which practically unchurched those Protestant communions which were separated from them. Their isolation was, indeed, based on principle. They had received what to them was truth, and only by isolation could they guard it. But they had been learning more of Christ, and they had come to ask themselves: How does isolation agree with Christian charity? Is Christ truly reflected in a divided Christendom? May it not be that if we are outside charity we are outside Christ? And these heart searchings had borne their fruit. They had compelled them to ask themselves if life was not a thing of varied form, and if it was not in keeping with the phenomena exhibited by life in every direction, that life in the Church should be multiform rather than uniform. They had compelled them to ask themselves if the true text of life was not, to put it at its lowest, quite as likely to be found in connection with the fruit it bore as in the form it wore; if, for example, it was not, perhaps, as important that worship should be living as liturgical, or if a Church with a technically irregular ministry might not be saving souls unto God, as surely as a Church with an unimpeachable episcopal succession. They were asking those questions, and as they beat out an answer they gave to their Church a new and more Christlike form. They were content to believe that their particular form of Church life need not be the standard for all Church life, and that it was possible for those who were not of them nevertheless to be of Christ. And so their eyes were turning away from an isolation which sterilised their Christianity to a comprehension which might show to the world a Church abounding in love and bringing forth the fruits of Christ. The Church was Christ's Body, and they, Christians, were members of that Body. He had dwelt on this subject because the entering of a bishop upon his work drew attention to the external organisation of the Body of Christ, and a bishop's work was, under Christ, to seek to stimulate activity and sense of responsibility in the members of the Body. But a bishop could not stand alone. He and his clergy and people were fellow-workers. He asked their help and their prayers. Energies flagged, judgment was at fault, charity slackened, unless life was sustained from deeper than human springs, and he was entitled to ask for the spiritual help of his people, and he knew that he should not ask in vain.

During the collection the hymn "Pour out Thy Spirit from on high" was sung, and the Archbishop then pronounced the Benediction, the recessional hymn being "O God, our Help in ages past."

The Provost of Trinity College, accompanied by four of the Fellows and Professors, and with the College Mace, was present at the Enthronement of the Archbishop on Thursday afternoon in Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin.

TYRONE ELECTION PETITION.

TWENTY-FIVE ADDITIONAL VOTES DISALLOWED.

The fifth day's proceedings of the Tyrone election petition was continued in Omagh yesterday before Mr. Commissioner Phelps. In his decisions on the previous day's cases he disallowed the following votes:—Ellie Blackshaw, John Devlin, Neil Crumlish, James McGinley, Robert Ballintine, Matilda Ballintine, John Henry, Lizzie Henry, Andy McLoughlin, William Park, William Turner, Ann Turner, William George Ballintine, Elizabeth Ballintine, Joseph Thompson, Daniel McCrea, Patrick McCallan, James McGinn, John McAleer, Susan Hunt, Charles Hunt, Mary J. McCrystall, E. McCullagh, Terence Devine, and Anne Meenagh.

This brings the total number of votes disallowed up to sixty, and his Honour intimated that he had held over his decision in six cases.

MR. THOMAS MOLES, M.P., AND SINN FEIN POLICY.

Mr. Thomas Moles, M.P., was the principal speaker at the ceremony of unveiling a Union Jack at the Alexander Dock Works of Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., Belfast, yesterday.

Mr. Moles said that law was the first essential to public safety in any community. The business of a Government was to govern, and if it did not do that it abdicated to the forces of anarchy, with an end to everything. The resolve which they had made was that British law, British freedom, and the British flag should continue to prevail amongst them. The sort of thing that was going on elsewhere in Ireland was telling a sorry tale for Ireland. Some of the people who began their boycotts were getting something serious to think about now. They used to export over 6,000 tons of butter—they did it a year ago—but to-day they were exporting less than 3,000 tons. That was a sobering reflection, because when they exported butter they imported money, and when they failed to do the one they failed also to do the other. The exports of bacon had gone down by more than 25 per cent., and that was 25 per cent. less revenue to them. They used to send out 1,210,000 great hundreds of eggs, but that had been reduced by more than half, and scores of thousands were rotting in their homes, while they might have money in the bank, or in their cupboards. That was the price Sinn Fein was making them pay.

CLOGHER DIOCESAN SYNOD.

DR. DAY AND CRIME IN IRELAND.

MURDER AND REPRISALS CONDEMNED.

The annual meeting of the Clogher Diocesan Synod was held in Clones yesterday, Dr. Maurice Day, the Bishop, presiding.

The President, in his address, referred to the amalgamation of the parishes as being the most pressing matter to be brought before the Synod, and said that the great need now was to increase the income of the Church and thereby the stipends of the clergy. Having reviewed the history of the Commutation, Capital, and Stipend Fund, he turned to the subject of how that diocese had fared in regard to those funds. For such parishes as would not provide a living wage for their incumbents, he said that he saw no solution of the difficulty except the amalgamation of parishes, and this to a far larger extent than had been already contemplated. Possibly I am expected to refer to the present chaotic and critical condition of our unhappy and beloved native land. With regard to political matters, important as they are, I decline to enter upon them. But on the social condition of our country I must say a few words, as it, to my mind, involves moral and religious considerations. How can we sufficiently condemn the awful crimes which have stained our land with the blood of innocent victims? No wonder that those who are the friends and associates of the victims of assassination should rise up in just wrath to execute summary vengeance on the perpetrators of it. Which of us in this Diocese does not feel at this moment a rising wave of indignation at the foul murder of the son of one of our own Synodsmen, Mr. Lendrum, whose mangled remains have been restored by the assassins after their foul deed had been done? And yet may I close by saying a few solemn words on the subject of reprisals? I have no hesitation in stating that from a Christian standpoint retaliation in any shape or form is entirely to be condemned. Our Blessed Lord makes this matter clear in His interpretation of the Law of God. He lays down, without any allowance, His law on the subject of retaliation: "Ye have heard that it hath been said an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth: but I say unto ye that ye resist not evil, but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek turn to him the other also." May God give us grace to seek to attain to this high ideal.

THE LATE CAPTAIN LENDRUM.

At the request of the President, the members of the Synod arose in unanimous expression of sympathy with the parents of Mr. Lendrum.

The report of the Diocesan Council stated that the annuities for 1919 remained as in the previous year, and there was accordingly no change of any importance in the amount of the commutation capital.

ELECTION OF DIOCESAN COUNCIL.

The following were elected:—

"WORSE THAN 1798."

PARISH PRIEST AND THE STATE OF IRELAND.

Our Roscommon Correspondent writes:—The Very Rev. Dean Gearty, P.P., speaking at early Mass in Strokestown Church on Sunday morning last, said that things were worse in different parts of the country than in the year 1798. He thanked God that his parish had escaped the terror so far, and he appealed strongly to the young men to keep cool and patient, no matter what the provocation. He described a visit paid to him during the week by a military officer. The officer, he said, was a perfect gentleman, but he told him frankly that if anything of a serious nature occurred in the town or district they would come out in daylight, and, after giving a certain amount of time to persons who were marked to leave their houses, they would proceed to destroy them. This goes to show, said the Dean, that what people thought were passionate outbursts in different parts of Ireland were nothing of the kind, but that there were orders or instructions issued regarding them. He paid a tribute as to the respectability of the men of the Lancer Regiment since they came to the town, and said he told their officer that he was pleased that such good relations existed between the civilian population and his men, and that when military had come to town at all the people were fortunate in getting such men. The officer said that both himself and his men had experienced every civility from the people of the town since their arrival, and he hoped that the good relations between them would continue. The Dean exhorted the people to pray fervently, and God would succour their poor country. He warned the young men not to interfere with the police or soldiers in any way, or to give any cause for reprisals.

THE SHOOTING AT FINEA.

CORONER'S JURY'S VERDICT.

Our Granard Correspondent telegraphs that the following verdict was returned yesterday by the Coroner's jury, that inquired into the death of a young cattle dealer, Patrick Thompson, who was found dead in Finea on Thursday morning:—

"We find that the deceased, Patrick Thompson, of Lisnadarragh, aged 29 years, died on the night of the 6th October, 1920, at Finea, from shock and hemorrhage, caused by a bullet unlawfully fired by Constable Henry Corbett, and we find a verdict of murder against Constable Henry Corbett. We desire to express our deepest sympathy with the relatives of the deceased, and we recommend his next-of-kin to the consideration of the authorities for compensation."

William Fagan, Castletown, deposed that he was in company with the deceased man from 8 o'clock on Wednesday night until about 10.30. The witness left Mrs. O'Connor's licensed premises with him about five minutes to 10. They remained for some time talking on the street. A man came down from Mr. Fitzgerald's halldoor. Thompson said, "This is John Fox. I will be home with him." He crossed over the street in the direction of the man, and immediately witness heard a shot, and he ran away. Two other shots rang out immediately afterwards. The witness went home, and did not see Thompson alive again.

To Mr. Foley, District Inspector—The night was very dark. The man who came down the street fired the shots. He was about four perches away from the witness.

Patrick Fitzgerald, publican, deposed that Constable Corbett, who had been in Finea, and was now stationed in Kilnaleck, came into his house before 10 o'clock on Wednesday night and had a small whiskey and two glasses of porter. Corbett said that he was going to Keogh's house to see about turf. He pulled out his revolver and showed it. The witness begged him to be careful, and he said that he was not afraid of it, putting the point of it up against his own breast. The witness induced the constable to put the revolver into his pocket. Corbett was nervous and excited, but not under the influence of drink. He left the house and returned in about five minutes, saying that the Keogh's were in bed. He had another glass of porter, and left in the direction of O'Connor's for his home. About three minutes after the constable had left the witness heard three reports.

James Fagan, Derrycrave, gave evidence to finding the body opposite Mrs. O'Connor's in the morning, about 7 o'clock.

Thomas Meehan gave evidence to finding the bullet produced in the clothes of the deceased man, where it passed through the body.

Dr. J. Ryan said that the bullet passed through the covering of the heart, and back through the lung, and out behind the spinal column. The bullet was fired inside a distance of five yards. Death was due to hemorrhage and shock.

District Inspector Foley, Castlepollard, deposed that the bullet handed to him as having inflicted the wound was identical with the pattern issued to the Royal Irish Constabulary.

The Coroner and Mr. Foley associated themselves with the rider, the District Inspector saying that the police would do everything possible to bring the culprit to justice.

GOVERNMENT AND THE IRISH RAILWAYS.

A SERIOUS SITUATION.

The statement which was published in yesterday's Irish Times with reference to the action which the Government is said to be contemplating in the matter of the Irish railways has aroused a good deal of attention in industrial and commercial circles.

The managers of the Irish railways have not yet had an opportunity of conferring together upon the subject, but there can be no doubt that it will receive their serious attention very soon. A gentleman closely connected with the management of one of the big railway systems in Ireland explained to our reporter yesterday how the present unfortunate position had been brought about. Large sections of the railway systems have had to be closed owing to the refusal of engine-drivers, guards, and other workers to do the duty for which they were paid. The origin of the trouble arose out of the action of a few men in Dublin, who induced the dockers in the employment of the London and North-Western Railway Company to refuse to handle munitions of war which were being brought into this country. Then the National Union of Railwaymen issued instructions to their members that they were not to permit, so far as they could, munitions of war to be sent to Poland. Irish railwaymen, said our informant, decided, without authority from their Union, to act in like manner with regard to munitions arriving at the Port of Dublin; and, notwithstanding that the instruction with regard to Poland was withdrawn, Irish railwaymen have up to the present time persisted in their refusal to permit the Government troops or munitions to pass by railway.

The suggested remedy for this state of affairs, continued this official, is, forsooth, that the unfortunate shareholders who had sunk their capital in Irish railways should be penalised by the withdrawal of the Treasury subsidies. The Government, he said, had the power in their own hands to bring the deadlock which has affected the railways to an end. Under Regulation 42 of the Restoration of Order Act, passed in the late session of Parliament, the Government can prosecute any person who impedes the transport of Government munitions. Apart from that, however, the withdrawal of the subsidy would require to have the sanction of an Act of Parliament, and he strongly doubted whether such a measure would meet with the approval of the House of Commons.

BALTINGLASS QUARTER SESSIONS.

£26,100 COMPENSATION FOR WICKLOW MANSION.

Baltinglass Quarter Sessions were held yesterday in Bray Courthouse, Judge Drumgoole presiding. The Baltinglass Courthouse has been burned, hence the change of venue. A number of claims under the Malicious Injuries Act were heard.

Miss Violet Tynte, of Tynte Park, claimed £26,425 for the destruction of Saundersgrove, an old Georgian mansion, at Stratford-on-Slaney, on the 8th May.

Mr. Carrigan, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Brown and McCann, solicitors), stated that the mansion was built in 1788, and that it was furnished with valuable antique furniture and plate, and contained marble mantelpieces and an oak staircase. There were about 1,000 volumes in the library, which was often visited by antiquarians, and some of the books were considered priceless. He said that the only reason for burning the mansion was the systematic destruction going on in the country owing to the idea having prevailed that the house was to be taken over by the military.

His Honour awarded £26,100, to be levied off the County Wicklow, together with £220 allowed for the out-houses.

His Honour reserved judgment in the case of a claim for £3,000 compensation for the destruction of the police barracks at Stratford-on-Slaney. Judgment was also reserved in the case of the claim of Mrs. Norris Goddard for £1,200 for Donard R.I.C. Barrack, burned on 5th April.

THE EX-EMPRESS EUGENIE'S PROPERTY.

The publication of the ex-Empress Eugénie's will is expected with much interest, although it is not thought likely that there will be important public bequests. The ex-Empress gave liberally to charity in her lifetime, and she had very few possessions which were historical in a national sense. The famous black pearls which she wore during the Empire were sold to Lord Ilchester soon after she reached England as a fugitive, and they are now in the possession of the Dowager Lady Ilchester. Her jewels are expected to go to her nieces, the Spanish property to her Spanish relatives, and Prince Napoleon is understood to be her heir to the main property.

It is believed (says the London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian) that Lord Revelstoke is one of the trustees, her affairs having been chiefly managed by the Barings since she came to England. Farnborough is expected to go to Prince Napoleon, who will probably let the place. Although very wealthy, the ex-Empress might have been one of the wealthiest in Europe if she had carried out the intention she expressed thirty years ago of buying the whole district at Cap Martin, where she had her villa.

POTASH FROM FLUES.

UTILISING WASTE GASES.

An interesting reference to attempts which are being made to recover potash from cement kiln fumes is contained in the report of the Chief Inspector of Alkali Works, writes the Manchester Guardian.

The report states that in the eastern and south-eastern area a serious attempt is at length being made to recover potash from cement kiln fumes. The alluvial mud of the Medway and the Blue Gault clays of Kent contain only traces of potash, but the Reading deposit clay, found at Harefield, in North-west Middlesex, has been found to contain 2.5 to 3 per cent., and a plant is being put down by the British Potash Company to recover the potash salts from the fumes of a large rotary kiln.

This is, so far, the only instance in this country of definite advance as regards potash recovery from cement works' flue gases. In some cases flue dust is collected and used direct on the land as a fertiliser on account of the potash contents, but only a fraction of the potash is made use of by this means.

OPINIONS CHANGE.

Booksellers' catalogues are a diverting branch of literature, but usually a rather impersonal one. However, there is a distinct note of slightly malicious glee about one of the items in the current catalogue of a Preston firm. It offers a first edition of Francis Thompson's poems for ten guineas, and with the books goes a letter from Mr. Arnold Bennett. Mr. Bennett had observed that Thompson possessed "a richer natural genius, a finer poetical equipment than any poet since Shakespeare." In the present letter, the catalogue joyfully asserts, "the Charles Dickens of to-day renounces his great discovery." Mr. Bennett's recantation of this high tribute points out that when it was made "Thompson was absolutely unknown, and I, a young man, was in the first flush of discovering a new poet." A celebrity admitting himself in the wrong is always an interesting spectacle, and one would like to have had more of the text of this document. All the same, why should the author of "The Old Wives' Tale" be so terribly ashamed of having once had an enthusiasm? If there is any consolation in the reflection, he can certainly pride himself on having got rid of the complaint by this time.

THE FIRST GENTLEMAN.

The adoption of the word "gentleman" by the French Academy may prompt a question as to who was the first bearer of that proud title. According to John Ball's famous rhyme, there was no gentleman when Adam delved and Eve span, but the first of them soon arrived. According to Dame Juliana Berners, writing upon coat armour in 1486, "Cain became a churl from the curse of God, and Seth a gentleman through his father's and mother's blessing." That is to say, Seth was the first man who could boast of "family," Cain having been cast out of the pale, whilst Abel, presumably, died too young!

"DUCKS AND DRAKES."

Seaside holiday-makers, sending a smooth stone skimming across the water, skipping from wave to wave, seldom trouble, perhaps, to wonder how old is this game of ducks and drakes. It was played by Scipio Africanus and his friend Laelius more than two thousand years ago, and was probably a favourite pastime even then. The ancients called it "epostracismus." Its full English name, according to a writer in 1583, is "A ducke and a drake and a halfpenie cake."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

AN IRISH SETTLEMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In the Archbishop of Canterbury's letter to the New York Nation he says:—"The people of Great Britain . . . . are practically unanimous in the wish to bring about in Ireland any settlement that its inhabitants as a whole can reasonably desire," etc. By the "as a whole" the Archbishop must mean "the great majority." Ireland has already declared for a Republic by a four-fifths majority. Surely the next step is a statement from the Government what they are prepared to grant, since they will not consider separation.

The impossibility of inducing the Northern counties to reconsider their attitude has wrecked all schemes of settlement, and will wreck all those in future. It will not be the slightest use to offer any kind of self-government to the majority that does not include the whole of Ireland. Moreover, there is that promise of "no coercion" given to Sir Edward Carson. This was entirely illegal, as there had been a previous promise of Home Rule made to the whole country. Until more attention is given to this vital question of the area to come under any proposed form of self-government there can be no chance of progress towards that settlement for which the country is longing.—Yours, etc.,

"A SOUTHERN."

Co. Limerick, October 7th, 1920.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your London Correspondent states that Mr. Harold Cox has joined Lord Grey's evacuation party. Mr. Cox thinks that the best solution of the question would be to have a South of Ireland Republic, while the six Northern counties would have a Parliament of their own. This change of front is unexplainable, as only a few days ago he wished the Imperial tribute to be raised from eighteen to twenty-five millions, and now he does not want anything from Ireland.

If this proposal would be accepted by the Sinn Feiners, the problem would be solved. The army which is now training at the Curragh might train in some Northern county. The same conditions that America gave to Cuba could be given to the South of Ireland Republic. Any attacks on Ulster or intrigues with foreign Powers could be visited with reconquest. No League of Nations could give more than this proposal.—Yours, etc.,

DISTRESSED IRISH LADIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I wish once more to make my annual appeal, on behalf of the above deserving class, for clothes of all kinds for the coming winter. Your readers have never failed to respond generously, and this year is likely to prove an even more trying one than ever before. Both food and clothing have soared to such a height as to make the purchase of either one or the other almost an impossibility for those with small and ever-decreasing incomes. It is, therefore, to be hoped that the good friends of former years will again help so worthy a cause. Costumes and skirts and warm cloaks and coats for the old ladies are most needed. All parcels, with donor's name inside, should be addressed to Miss Constance Butler, 20 Dawson street, Dublin.—Yours, etc.,

CONSTANCE BUTLER,
Honorary Secretary, Irish Distressed Ladies' Fund.

A MOVING STAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—On Monday night, at about 9.15 o'clock, I was looking at the stars—at Pegasus. At about 2° to the right of Markab a bright star suddenly appeared, and during the time which one would take to count ten it moved slowly towards Markab, and, when it arrived there, immediately disappeared. This was also observed by a friend who was with me. I have, of course, frequently seen shooting stars, but have never seen this spectacle before. I should be greatly obliged for an explanation of its nature. Yours, etc.,

JOHN GALBRAITH.

PLATFORM AND STAGE.

Messrs. MacDonald and Young's No. 1 Company will present a musical play entitled "The Boy" at the Gaiety Theatre next week. The farce is based on what is described as Pinero's funniest work, "The Magistrate," and attained considerable popularity in London. It is genuine comedy, in which Mr. Edward Lewis appears as the funny magistrate, with Miss Cissie Thompson as his partner. Mr. Bertram Sims plays the part of the Boy, and the two principal singing rôles are filled by Miss Diana Fairlie and Mr. Albany Pope. The music is by Messrs. Lionel Monckton and Howard Talbot, and will be interpreted by an augmented orchestra, under Mr. W. A. Scott.

The Theatre Royal Hippodrome programme includes Will Evans in "The Lost Umbrella," in which he is assisted by Miss Nora Emerald and Edmund Evans. A musical quartette, which had a wide popularity in London—the Royal Southern Syncopated Singers—has been engaged, and the other items include a musical and dancing fantasy by Harold Moss and Isabel Maschah; Winifred Ward, described as the "immaculate boy"; Will Gardner and Neville Delmar, comedians, and the Mackwells, gymnasts.

The Tivoli Theatre of Varieties announces the appearance of the McNaughtons in comedy work, and "Felovis," a juggler. Joe Masterson and Fred Lloyd, humourists, have been engaged; also The Ledores, lilliputian artists; Dean and Roberts, in a refined singing act; Alice Mayfield, vocalist, and Ettennoy and Navelle, in comedy gymnasis.

Mr. Ira Allen will present an Irish play, "Father Murphy," a drama of love, fighting, and death, in seven scenes, at the Queen's Theatre next week. The company includes many well-known Queen's Theatre artists—Mr. Ira Allen, Mr. R. Carrickford, Miss May Fitzpatrick, and the Misses Murnane.

A new play—described as intensely topical and provocative—by Mr. St. John Ervine, entitled "The Island of Saints, and how to get out of it," will be produced at the Abbey Theatre next week. It will be followed by Mr. T. C. Murray's "Birthright."

Two educated Chimpanzees, "Hiawatha and his squaw," will exhibit their intelligence at the Empire Theatre next week. Other turns include the Two Powers, dancers; the Fitzgerald girls, in a club-swinging entertainment; Harry Harmen, comedian; Bertha Coplin; Rolls and Royce, entertainers, and Maggie Tisdall and May Devitt, in a refined act.

Miss Jean Nolan announces a song recital for the afternoon of Wednesday, 3rd November, in the Abbey Theatre. She will be assisted by Miss Rhoda Coghill at the piano, and Dr. Larchet will also act as accompanist.

A concert, the proceeds of which will be devoted to charity, will be given at the Parochial Hall, Belgrave square, Rathmines, on Monday evening at eight o'clock. Several well-known local artists will appear, including Madame Eira Haise, Miss Vera Wilkinson, Miss M. Kirk, Miss G. Huggard, Mr. John Gill, Mr. R. B. Goodbody, Mr. H. C. Athiame, and the Rev. H. G. Forde. The Rev. J. Purser Shortt will be at the piano.

THE PICTURE HOUSES.

The principal film to be shown at La Scala Theatre on the first three days of next week is "The Unknown," a story of the lost legion, and it gives some good impressions of the desert, and the harsh lives lived by the picturesque dwellers therein. A vocalist will appear in the afternoons, and the McNally opera chorus of 40 voices has been engaged to appear at 7 and 9 o'clock each evening of the week. The theatre's symphony orchestra of 23 performers will play classical selections from its repertoire.

Charles Garvice's romance, "Linked by Fate," will be shown at the Princess Cinema, Rathmines, on the first three days of next week. Miss Isobel Elsom and Mr. Malcolm Cherry appear in the film version. The first instalment of a new film serial story, "The Great Gamble," will also be shown, and a drama of social life, "His Bonded Wife," is advertised for the last three days of the week. The music will be provided by Professor Briand's orchestra.

THE JACKAL.

The jackal, which may be seen in the Dublin "Zoo," comes from India; another variety inhabits Africa. In all cases it is exceedingly useful, acting as a scavenger of anything eatable, thus removing many things which in a hot climate might give rise to disease. But while useful, it is not appreciated as it ought to be by the inhabitants. Nocturnal in its habits, it issues out on its hunting expeditions with the advent of night, at the same time giving vent to a noisy howling which vexes the ears of the weary and sleepy wayfarer as he endeavours to find repose. Pigs, lambs, and poultry may fall victims to his appetite if he fails to find a sufficiency of carrion. He used to be called the "Lion's Provider," but the condition is really reversed, as he follows the larger animals to pick up anything they leave after a "kill." Indeed, many a tiger has been discovered and brought to his death by the yells of a jackal, which led his pursuers on his track. They are commonly seen singly, but, like all the dog tribe, sometimes unite in packs, and hunt together. When an animal falls, large numbers appear and contest with the vultures the right to the spoil, although few may be noticed about the place a short while before. If caught very young or born in captivity, they can be tamed and will follow like a dog, but when they have tasted a free life they are very untrustworthy, being shy, suspicious, and treacherous, characters which may be easily observed in the specimen in the Dublin "Zoo."

BOLSHEVISM IN CHINA.

Miss D. C. Badgley, of St. Ann's School, Shantung, writing to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, states that the situation in China is not being made easier by the approach of Bolshevism. The Chinese papers are full of it, and among the rank and file of the Chinese proletariat there is a good deal of propaganda. The coolies returned from the war have lost most of their Christianity in France, and are now hostile to the British Government, who, they say, have cheated them out of their money by means of the Exchange.

ANOTHER BISHOP WESTCOTT WANTED.

It is remarkable that the peace maker in the great coal strike of 1892 was the scholarly and saintly Brooke Foss Westcott, Bishop of Durham. If a popular speaker of the type of Fraser of Manchester, or Wilberforce of Winchester, had smoothed things over, none would have been surprised, but the apparently impossible was accomplished by this gentle and retiring saint.

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURES.—The two lectures on Christian Science advertised in to-day's issue should prove very interesting. The lectures will be delivered in the Abbey Theatre to-morrow at 3.30 o'clock and on Monday at 8 p.m.

AMERICAN STEAMER IN DUBLIN.—Another of the United States Shipping Board steamers, the ss. Pontia, arrived in the Liffey last evening, having been a little delayed on her passage from Cork by fog in the Irish Channel. The Pontia is to load outward cargo at the east end of Dublin port, and a considerable consignment awaits stowing in her holds and ferrying from the Liffey to the Hudson.

MEETING OF ASSISTANT TEACHERS' UNION.—At a largely attended meeting of the Dublin Assistant Teachers' Union, held in Banba Hall last night, a resolution was passed expressing the opinion that, as the National Board's delegation was insufficient in number, the Central Executive Committee should appoint four additional delegates. They suggested that Messrs. Mansfield, Meehan, Quinn, and another should be added to the delegation, so that the large and small schools and the assistant teachers would have adequate representation.

ACCIDENT AT KINGSTOWN.—Thomas Aspell, West Temple street, Dublin, an employé of Messrs. Guinness and Son, Ltd., met with a serious accident yesterday forenoon at Kingstown. One of the firm's motor lorries was drawing a trailer, when it came to a standstill through sinking in a soft spot in the road. The trailer was detached, and some time later an effort was made to shift the trailer, which was interfering with other traffic. The trailer ran down the incline of the Royal Marine road, and suddenly stopped, jerking off a number of porter barrels. Either the trailer or one of the barrels struck Aspell. He sustained a broken leg, for which he was treated by Dr. O'Connor at St. Michael's Hospital, Kingstown.

EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS.—Miss Clare Marsh and Miss Mary Swanzy, members of the Dublin Society of Painters, are exhibiting specimens of their best work at the gallery, 7 St. Stephen's Green. The work of these two painters is in effective contrast. Miss Swanzy's technique is strong and expressive; while Miss Marsh suggests beauty in tones and values. The grouping for tenderly expressive beauty is particularly noticeable in the latter's "townscapes"—the Nelson Pillar, Parnell's Statue, and the picture of snowy roofs. Miss Swanzy shows a strong and vivid imagery in her "Saturday Afternoon," with its group of typical loungers; "The Rocks" and "The Quay" are other characteristic examples of this artist's bold technique. It is a matter for congratulation that this Society is asserting itself in these troubled times.

WEATHER WARNINGS 3D. EACH.

AIR MINISTRY'S PRIVATE MESSAGE OFFER.

You can now buy weather forecasts at 3d. a time.

"The procedure is quite simple," said Lieutenant-Colonel E. Gold, D.S.O., Assistant Director of the Meterological Office, to a Daily Chronicle representative. "All you have to do is to make a cash deposit at this office in Kingsway, and the latest reports or predictions, will be telephoned. For each message sent 3d. is deducted from your cash deposit.

"As the office is never closed, messages can be telephoned at any hour of the day or night. Some business people find it convenient to have weather predictions sent to them three or four times a day. Such knowledge is of the utmost assistance to builders and engineers, as work can be expedited or postponed according to the weather prospects. Precautions can be taken in time against the probability of rain or frost.

"Many farmers are taking advantage of the summer service of local weather forecasts for agricultural purposes issued by the Meteorological Office.

"We are now sending out notifications of spells of settled weather. Telegrams are despatched when a spell of fair settled weather of several days' duration is expected. All the recipients of these notifications are telegraphically warned of the likely break-up of fine weather as far in advance as is possible.

"The following specimen telegrams indicate the scope of the service:—

First Telegram.—Fair weather spell indicated.
Second Telegram (two days later).—Conditions less settled; perhaps some showers.
Third Telegram (following day).—Break only temporary; fair weather expected to continue.
Fourth Telegram (two days later).—Becoming unsettled; rain expected during night or to-morrow; spell terminated.

"For each of such telegrams sent the fee of sixpence is made, plus the ordinary Post Office charges, and the amount of the minimum deposit is 5s.

"Holiday-makers, for an inclusive fee of half-a-crown, can be informed by telegram of forecasts of coast conditions, such as the likelihood of a smooth sea.

"It is hoped, before the end of the present year, that the scope of weather predictions will be considerably extended. The idea is to equip ships of the merchant service with wireless apparatus for despatching to the Meteorological Office regular weather reports. Except for the war the scheme would have been in operation a long while ago."

AMERICA'S WOODEN SHIPS.

When the United States entered the war against Germany, and the cry went up for a bridge of ships, the Government was persuaded to go heavily into the construction of wooden ships. This was against the advice of General Goethals, the builder of the Panama Canal and the General Manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and so bitter was his opposition that he resigned rather than sanction what he believed to be a waste of money and effort. Some 300 of these vessels were built, with an average of 3,500 tons, the fleet costing about fifty millions sterling. The Shipping Board has now decided that as ships they are worthless, and as they cannot be profitably employed and no purchasers can be found for them, they are to be tied up at various docks and other secluded places and left to their fate. A wooden ship of 3,500 tons requires practically the same crew as a steel ship of from 5,000 to 7,000 tons, and the cargo capacity of the wooden ship is smaller than that of the steel ship, consequently the wooden ship cannot be profitably employed in competition with the steel ship. Although the fifty millions originally spent has been transferred to the profit and loss account on the books of the Shipping Board, the vessels are still an expense, as salaries of caretakers have to be paid. Experienced men contend that the wisest thing for the Government to do is to tow the vessels out to mid-Atlantic, sink them, and charge the loss to experience.

WILD FLOWERS OF SPEECH.

The searcher for wild flowers of speech would be richly rewarded by gleaning in the pages of "My Lady of the Chimney Corner." Here are a few of the choice blooms to be found growing there. "A cup of sorrow isn't so bad, Jamie, when there's two to drink it." "A good thought will travel as fast an' as far as a bad wan if it gets th' right start." "A plowman who skims th' surface of th' sod strikes no stones, dear, but it's because he isn't plowing deep!" "There's only wan kind ov poverty, Jamie, an' that's t' haave no love in th' heart." "Th' biggest hope I've ever had was t' bear a chile that would love everybody as yer father loved me." Other fine blooms may be found among the sayings of Snarly Bob in "Mad Shepherds." Such as: "I've known lots of queer people as 'ad more sense than them as wasn't queer." "Put yer drum in yer cupboard," he said to a Salvationist, "and put the Gospel in yer pipe, an' you'll be a wiser man." "Most folks only look at things from one end, and that as often as not the wrong 'un."

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED HEAVY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, FRIDAY.

Stocks opened irregular. There were declines of 1 to 10 points in certain specialities, under bear raids and liquidation. Tobaccos, Oils, Shipping, Sugars, Rubbers, Motors, and low-priced Railroads were particularly weak, but Equipments were strong on large orders being placed. Industrial Alcohol were also strong, and Sears Roebuck advanced 5 points, on an official denial of the report that the dividend was to be reduced. The market closed heavy.

FIRST NIGHTS.

THE PARISIAN SYSTEM.

There is a movement, I am told, in certain critical circles in favour of the system which obtains in Parisian theatres of the répétition générale. This, as most playgoers know, writes "A.B.W." in The Times, is a final "dress rehearsal" held on the evening of the day before the actual "first night" production of the play. The seats are filled by invitation. It is the real "first night"; only there is no "money" in the house. Notoriously, there is a formidable cohort of Parisians who regard their seat at a répétition générale as a kind of vested interest, and who would be affronted by having to put up with the première. A very remarkable public this is, the public of the répétition générale, with its members virtually all known to one another, filling the foyer with chatter and much scent, and patiently sitting through a performance which is apt to begin a good half-hour after the advertised time, and to end in the small hours of the morning. The inter-acts are of inordinate length, perhaps in the interests of the buffet, more likely because of the inveterate leisureliness of the Parisians. The whole thing, at any rate as I have found it, is a weariness to English flesh. But then the gentlemen (and ladies) of the Press have the advantage of being able to go home straight to bed, and of having all next day to think over their "notices."

That is the reason, I suppose, why some critics would like to see the system introduced in London. They want more time. They want to sleep on it. They would write, they think, better in the morning. Let me leave that point, however, for the moment to turn to what an incorrigibly commercial world will probably think a more important one, the question of finance. To the theatrical manager the introduction of this system would mean the loss of a whole night's receipts. They are already complaining that theatre seats at their present prices do not pay—and here they would be giving away, for one night, the whole house. On the whole, I think our managers would be ill-advised to countenance the suggested change.

Another thing. The répétition générale is a trial performance. Effects which don't "tell," incidents which shock or provoke ridicule, are often cut out next morning, so that the play actually presented at the première differs, sometimes vitally, from that presented to the critics, so that the "notice" not seldom describes and criticises various matters which the public are never shown. If the English manager imitated this example the unhappy critic after writing his notice would have to go to the play again, before printing it, in order to assure himself that it still represented the facts. It would have to be two bites at a cherry. Now, new plays are often produced on two nights running, in which case two bites at the same cherry would be impossible.

But would criticism benefit in quality? I venture to doubt that, too. I think that theatrical "notices" are all the better for being piping hot. When Jules Lemaître went from the Débats to the Deux Mondes he found that his thoughts about the play, instead of maturing with the longer interval for writing, were apt to become simply vague and general. If the play happened to be one "of ideas," not so much harm was done, because ideas stick in the mind, and are revolved there. But a play of emotion or a play dependent on fine shades of acting is bound to suffer by the gradual waning of the first impression. And my own experience is that in writing about a play of which one has lost the first hot impression, and which one has to recall by an effort of memory, the proportions get altered, so that the criticism is thrown out of gear. Some point, a mere minor point, perhaps, that attracted one's attention, remains in the mind and assumes an undue importance in relation to other details that have faded.

After all it is the business of critics not merely to criticise, analyse, and judge a play, to try and "place" it in the realm of art; they have also the perhaps minor but still important duty of acting as public "tasters." They have to represent facts, to give the public a reasonably accurate notion of what they are likely to see. And they are in a much better position for doing this if they set down their facts and their views of the facts at once, while they are still quivering with the excitement (or yawning with the boredom) of them.

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

FUNDS RELAPSE. STRENGTH IN BANK STOCK AND GUINNESS. DUNLOPS REBOUND. TEXTILES DROOPING.

Quietly irregular markets again constitute the main outline of business on 'Change yesterday. The new Local Loans issue notified at 50 caused a relapse in all Government Funds, but the incident will soon pass. Coal strike fears were the main disturbing element behind the markets, but that element under existing circumstances, even if the worst develop, will also soon adjust itself. The feature in Banks was the bidding for Bank of Ireland Stock. Irregular changes were shown in Breweries and Distilleries, but little business was done. Marconis remain on sale. Home Rails were dull and on offer on reports as to closing down and withdrawal of Government subsidy, but these outside possibilities, even if they do take place, may not ultimately prove an unmixed misfortune for the shareholders, who have been disturbed by the state of the country. There was a welcome change in tone and price of Dunlops. Scores of buyers turned up, but there were no shares at recent depressed levels, and it looked at one time as if the temporary discount would disappear at a bound. Textiles were weaker generally. Tobacco and Oils fell, but reactions are not unwelcome after recent strength.

The Funds were busy and lower. Consols fell 1/16, War Loan 4½ p.c. ¼, ditto 5 p.c. ¼, ditto by Deed ¼, Funding Loan 1/16, Irish Land 2¾ p.c. ¼, and India 3½ p.c. 1/16.

Among Banking securities, Bank of Ireland Stock closed 3 higher at 178 to 180 nominally. Nationals fell ¼ to 15⅞ for a broken lot. Hibernians and Royals were firm.

In Breweries, etc., Guinness Ord. rose ¼ to 31⅞, but Dunvilles fell 1/16 to 11 1/16. City of Steam Pref. were still held for 87½, or ½ over previous price.

In Marconis, the Ord. fell 6d. to 55s. 9d.

Home Rails were quiet and dull. Great Northern fell ½ to 50½. Great Southern offered at yesterday's improved price, 45, and Midland Great Western at 20 shows no alteration.

The whole Dunlop market slightly hardened, and sellers instantly withdrew when the change in tone was noticed. Dunlop Rubbers were called about 1s. 6d. better at 27s. 6d., 28s. 6d., but nothing was done. Parent Tyre Ord. rose 9d to 20s. 9d.

In Drapery shares, Webbs fell 3s. 7d. to 14s.

As regards Manufacturing shares, British American Tobacco rose 5s. to 75s. from last price here, and Brunner Mond 3s. 6d. to 35s. 6d., while Dyers fell 1s. 3d. to 43s., and Spinners 9d. to 48s. 9d. Coats fell 6d. to 51s. 6d., but later rallied to 52s., while the Pref. were on sale at 9⅞, or ⅛ under last marking. Kapp and Peterson Pref. closed sellers.

Trading and Miscellaneous Securities were idle.

Among other business done, Imperial Tobacco fell 1s. to 50s. 7½d., 50s., and Shells 1/16 to 7 7/16.

AFTER HOURS.

There was a fair business at the later market. Dunlop Rubber rose 1s. 9d. to 28s. 3d. bid. Mexican Eagles 12 1/16, 12, 12 1/16, Shells 7 7/16, ½, Irish Packing 12s. 1½d., and Coats 51s. 9d.

BELFAST STOCK EXCHANGE.

DUNLOPS RECOVER.

Our Belfast Correspondent writes:—Only a moderate amount of business was transacted upon the Belfast Exchange during the past week. Gilt-edged securities were inclined to harden, but the issue of the 5 per cent. Local Loan at 50 has brought down the quotations, and War Loans were to-day all marked lower. Oils were firm during the week, but closed below the best, while Dunlop Rubber Shares, on the other hand, after declining to 26/6, have again advanced to 28/6. War Loan 5 per cent. is now wanted at the new marking, 84¼, and it is evident that at this figure it offers more attractiveness than the new Local Loan issue. Bank Shares are dull. Northern Bank "B" declined 1/16 to 2 1/16, and are still offered. London City and Midland and London County Westminster are both in the market. Railway Shares are still under a cloud. Belfast and County Down 5 per cent. Guaranteed were 5 points down at 72. Great Northern Railway Stock is inquired for at a lower level. Belfast Harbour Commissioners 3½ per cent., 1953-74 issue, is 4 lower at 54. Several Belfast Corporation issues are in the market, and some of the 3½ per cent. 1935 stock is wanted. All the Belfast Corporation issues have attractions, provided additional capital is available to adopt the conversion rights. Textile issues are generally sellers, although there is an inquiry for Brookfield Linen Co. Ordinary. Belfast Ropeworks Ordinary, Linen Thread Co. 5 per cent. Pref., and York Street Ordinary and Pref. are offered. Bakery Shares are also in the market, but Bloomfield Bakery Ordinary are wanted. In the Distillery section, there were further deals in Old Bushmills Ordinary at 3½ and 3¾, in anticipation of a higher distribution in the voluntary winding up. Wm. Cowan ordinary are inquired for. Shipping and Metal issues are offered, also Commercial Insurance Co. of Ireland Shares. In the Drapery section, Robinson and Cleavers Pref. are wanted at 12/3, while J. Fulton and Co. Pref. repeated last price, 2¾. British-American Tobacco Co. and British Tobacco Co. of Canada (Australia) are offered, also Imperial Tobacco of Canada, but Imperials are wanted. Dunlop Rubbers were dealt in at 27/6, and closed at 28/6, an advance of 2/- since Thursday. They are still available at that figure. Oil Shares are not so firm, and Mexican Eagles declined a fraction to 11 15/16. There are a number of Miscellaneous shares on offer, including North of Ireland Paper Mills Ordinary and Lever Bros. 7, 8, and 20 per cent. Cum. Pref. Ordinary. White, Tomkins, and Courage Ordinary are in demand, and were bid up to 20/9 without finding sellers.

STOCKS RALLY MILDLY.

FEWER SIGNS OF "COLD FEET."

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Markets pulled themselves together a bit yesterday. Though there was not much in the way of recovery in prices nor in the volume of business, signs of "cold feet" were less apparent. The pending new issue of Local Loans, though for £15,000,000 nominal, will only call for £7,500,000, seeing that it is to be offered at 50, was not regarded as a very terrible affair, and consequently it had a less weakening effect on gilt-edged securities. There was a disposition to take a more cheerful view with regard to the coal mining position, and finally it was something to the good that neither the provinces nor Paris came in a seller. Gilt-edged securities were characterised by firmness, and though there was an inkling of irregularity, the Funding Loan, the 5 p.c. War Loan, and the 3½ p.c. War Loan were all good, and exhibited a moderate recovery from the previous day's lowest. Corporation Stocks were somewhat infirm, as were Colonial Government issues, several of which receded. Home Rails developed irregularity. Grand Trunks were unmoved, while among Foreign Rails the tendency was dull, the representative Argentine Stocks being marked down. Less activity was shown by Foreign Bonds and movements were irregular. Russian issues were quiet, but where changed it was in favour of holders.

LONDON STOCKS DULL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange yesterday it was hardly to be expected that there would be any increased activity on the last working day of the week. Dealings were on a very restricted scale, and quotations tended downwards in many directions. So far as the more speculative groups were concerned the disposition was to await developments both at home and in Paris. The tone later became rather more cheerful, and the close showed recoveries in various directions. Fresh support was given to the 5 p.c. War Loan, which hardened to 84¼, but most of the gilt-edged group was marking time. Some National War Bonds rallied to a trifling extent, but the various Corporation issues were neglected.

FOREIGN BONDS WEAK.—The business in Foreign Bonds was by no means large, and movements confined to a few securities. French Loans were very weak, both the 5 and 4 p.c. giving way to 48 and 38 respectively. Chinese Reorganisation Loan fell to 66½. Mexican 5 p.c. rallied to 61. Peruvian Pref. were better at 27½, and the Ord. at 6.

Changes:—Rises—Mexican Fives, 1 to 61; Peruvian Corp., ¼ to 6; Peruvian Pref., ½ to 27½; Uruguay, 1 to 66. Falls:—Chinese Fives, ½ to 69½; Chinese 4½ p.c., ¼ to 48; French Loan, ½ to 48.

HOME RAILS DULL.—Dulness continues to be the chief characteristic of the market, and the comparative firmness of the earlier part of the week has quite disappeared. An exception was Underground Incomes, which rose to 68½, while Districts advanced to 19.

Changes:—Rises—Metropolitan District ¼ to 19; Underground Electric, ⅛ to 2½; Underground Income Bonds, 2 to 68½. Falls:—Great Eastern, ½ to 31½; London and North-Western, ½ to 77; Midland Def., ½ to 50; North-Eastern Consols, ½ to 78½; South-Eastern Def., ½ to 28.

CANADIAN AND FOREIGN RAILS.—Canadian Pacifics were unchanged. Grand Trunks were unaltered. Argentine Rails were weak, and the news that heavy rains have fallen over the country to the benefit of the crops was without stimulating effect. There was no further fall in prices. The Pacific dividend is expected now at any time, and meanwhile the stock remains at 54. "Bags" and Westerns were all weak. Mexicans continue inactive.

Changes:—Rise—San Paulo, 2 to 135. Falls—Mexican Nat. 1st Pref., 1 to 16; do. 2nd Pref., ½ to 9½; Antofagasta Pref., 1 to 65; B.A. and Pacific, ½ to 54; B.A. Western, ½ to 70½; Central Argentine, ½ to 62.

INDUSTRIAL SHARES STEADY.

SPECIALITIES MAKE A BETTER SHOWING.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Conditions in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday indicated a more cheerful sentiment, and the general appearance of prices was healthier by the close of the session. Specialities were singled out for attention, and this, combined with covering in the leaders, which registered advances in several instances, gave a touch of brightness to the lists at the final make up. Dunlops were marked up, and Courtaulds also responded to increased demands. Better resistance was shown by the Iron and Steel department after the bout of selling on the previous day. Business was slack, but prices closed with few alterations, Vickers still standing at 22s., and Armstrongs continuing dull at 22s. 6d. Cammell Laird eased to 17s. 6d., but Bolckow Vaughan, at 24s., were unchanged, and Guest Keen kept the price at 43s. Ebbw Vale showed no recovery at 25s. 6d. Coal Stocks were scarcely mentioned, and no changes were recorded. Brazilian Traction, in the Canadian-American list, moved up again. The stock has been creeping up steadily during the past week, but the movement is something of a mystery. A short time ago there was talk of the possible resumption of dividend payments, but as this seems out of the question some other pretext would appear to be required. Yesterday the price rose another ½ to 48. Elsewhere in the same group Shawinigan rose 6 to 140. The advance in Allsopps has served to relieve a monotonous week's business in the Brewery section, and a further improvement yesterday put the quotation up to 75, as compared to 60 at the end of last week. Hotels were idle, and among Land Shares Sudan Plantations fell to 4⅞ on realisation during the day. Bays, however, remaining firm at 6 1/16. Banks were irregular, with few changes of interest. Chartered of India lost a point at 68. In the Shipping section Cunards recovered slightly from the setback of the preceding day, closing at 24s. 9d., but P. and O. Def. eased to 400. Dunlops recovered 1s. to 28s., under the influence of covering bargains and the brighter tone in the market. British Portlands also hardened to 31s., though Cements were no better than 26s. 6d. Underground issues were good again, with a rise to 2⅜ in the £10 Shares, and a hardening in "Bus" A to 7s. 3d. Vauxhalls were good at 15s. 6d. Among Motors, Harper Bean were taken at the low level, the price finally hardening to 4s. 3d. for the Ord. and 7s. 3d. for the Pref. B.A.T. were a shade off among Tobacco issues, the quotation easing fractionally to 3 11/16, but Imperials were still maintained at 50s. 6d. Courtaulds recovered on the improved sentiment which prevailed. The price finally closed 7⅛, or 1/16 better on the day. Elsewhere among Textiles, however, the tone was hardly so good, Spinners hardened to 2¼, but the amount of business passing in the section was too small to provide a sufficient test, and the shares may consequently be said to have merely marked time without developing any definite tendency. Calicos were a little easier at 23s. 6d. J. Wood eased to 20s. Amalgamated Cottons kept the price at 23s. Among Stores, J. Barker and Whiteleys were easier at 33s. and 23s. 9d. x.d. respectively. In the Catering and Foodstuffs list, Maypoles were off colour at 11s. 3d., and Van Den Berghs reacted 1/16 to 2 1/16 x.d. Among Insurance securities, movements were fewer, with an advance of 10 outstanding in Royal Exchange, which closed at 400 on week-end covering operations. The improvement was, however, an isolated case, other changes recorded being adverse to holders. London lost ¼ at 7¼, and Commercial Union eased to 26½. In the Electric Lighting section, Chelsea Ord. again improved, closing ⅛ better at 3, while Tramway Securities were distinguished by a decline of ¼ in Calcutta Trams to 6¾. Nitrates were easier in places, Pan de Azucar weakening ¼ to 15, and Aguas Blancas easing 1/16 to 1¼.

MINING MARKET QUIET.

RAND MINES OUTPUTS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Throughout the day Mining Shares had a distinctly quiet appearance. For one thing, the week had come to an end; and for another, dealers showed no disposition to take shares pending a less obscure reading of the general Labour outlook. During the week various erratic movements have occurred, caused by quite extraneous influences, and this susceptibility is rather upsetting to the market. Very little business was transacted in any direction, and dealings in Esperanza sobered down. Fluctuations were within even narrower limits than on Thursday, and on balance a small decline was marked. American capitalists are reported to be taking a very lively interest in Mexican undertakings, especially Mining Shares, and the substantial advance which has occurred in Mexican Mines of El Oro is attributed to this cause. Buying in this case was distinctly good, and further support was accorded Camp Bird on the development cablegram. Some of the other issues, such as El Oro and San Francisco Mines of Mexico, were dealt in to a moderate extent. The Kaffir market was not in a particularly cheerful frame of mind. Earlier in the week rumours were circulated to the effect that the East Rand Proprietary Mines would have a bumper return for the past month, showing, in fact, a profit of £50,000. The ardour of dealers consequently received a cold douche when the official figures were announced, showing only £28,560, as compared with £38,500 for August. Curiously enough, the shares advanced on the news, though it may be that the rally was due to bear covering. The disappointment in connection with East Rands was thought to foreshadow others. In the event, however, there were some pleasant surprises. Few changes were marked in the Kaffir list, and none of them was of any consequence. The drawback for September appears to have been in connection with a shortage of native labour. As had been pointed out some days ago, this is the period of the year when natives go to their homes for sowing. In a few weeks they will be returning, and the tonnage milled will improve again. For a change Paris did little or nothing in the way of dealing. Taken as a whole, Rhodesians suffered from neglect. The little activity noticeable in Chartered was said to be the result of covering by five-day bears. Falcons eased again, buyers of some days ago thinking it desirable to secure profits. Diamond Shares were quiet, the only notable feature being a rally in De Beers. Tin Shares ruled dull, with Malayans specially so, there being vague talk of an alteration in the arrangement as regards outputs. Australians and Coppers moved irregularly, and Russo-Asiatic, on what was regarded as a better political outlook, picked up again.

OIL SHARES CONFIDENT.

SHARP RISE IN EAGLES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

While it cannot be said that the volume of transactions in Oil shares showed any marked expansion yesterday, a decidedly more confident tone prevailed throughout the day. The market opened cautiously, and during the morning business was of a quiet character, but later, when it was found that there was a cessation of the offering from Paris, which had the effect of depressing quotations on the preceding day, a distinct change for the better became noticeable. Paris, in fact, turned round a small buyer of its favourites, and particularly of Mexican Eagles, while a fair amount of support was received from provincial centres. The change of sentiment was quickly reflected in advancing prices, and, although in the late "street" dealings they came back from the top, improvements were still pretty general at the close. The outstanding feature was the strength of Mexican Eagles, and the sharp rise which occurred in the shares afforded strong evidence that the shares recently offered have passed into strong hands, and are not likely to come out until higher levels are reached. The best price was not maintained to the close, but both the Common and Prefs. still showed appreciable gains. Royal Dutch went easier at one time, but rallied to the overnight level, and small gains were registered by Shells and Burmahs. Considerable liveliness was again witnessed among Trinidad issues, the chief feature being a further sharp spurt in Naparimas to £5, although it is difficult to see how such a high price is warranted, in view of the fact that the property is only in the initial stages of development. Strength continued to be displayed by Trinidad Centrals, which again moved up, and Apex Trinidad met with support and improved. Egyptian B was well bought, and finished at an advance, a good inquiry also being received for Gemsah Oil Reefs. With regard to the last-named, it is understood that an important statement regarding developments is to be issued at an early date. Russians were firm, gains being scored by North Caucasians and Ural Caspians. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARES DEPRESSED.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

In spite of a recovery in rubber to 1s. 6¼d. per lb., the majority of changes on the day were downward. Amongst these may be mentioned Ayer Kuning 2 1/16, Sennah 1⅛, Straits 30s., and Batu Rata 36s. 3d. Anglo-Dutch gave way to 43s. 6d.

PANORA TEA AND PRODUCE CO., LTD.—The report of this company states:—"Since the accounts were made up in July, tea has fallen considerably, and the result will be that there will be a loss on the figure at which stocks of tea have been taken into account. Owing to the abnormal stocks of tea in England, arising as the aftermath of Government control and the absence of the Russian demand, the position of the tea industry is one of extreme gravity. The cost of production and delivery in London has been increased by the high value of the rupee, heavy cost of rice, labour, and freights, which are out of all proportion to rates ruling in pre-war days, while sales are restricted so as to keep the offerings down to the market requirements."

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS AND DISCOUNTS EASY.

Bank Rate (changed April 15th) ............ 7 p.c.

Another comfortable day was experienced so far as money was concerned, and the amount which fell due at the bank was repaid without any inconvenience. There is still a little outstanding. In the open market daily loans ruled from 5 down to 4 per cent., the latter being for balances at the close. Discount business was quiet, but rates were on the easy side, and there was still an inquiry for October and November maturities. The former in some cases were taken as low as 5 per cent., and the latter at 5⅜ per cent., but brokers usually quoted higher rates than these.

The price of gold was 3d. lower at 117s. per oz. fine. Of the small amount in the market, part went to India and part to the Continent. Bar silver was unaltered for cash at 56¼d. per oz., but the quotation for forward delivery was ½d. higher at 56d. per oz.

Among foreign exchanges, movements in the active exchanges were irregular. New York towards the close was about a cent higher on balance, but francs depreciated, Paris cheque rising about 10 centimes. Brussels was quoting less for bills on London, but two Scandinavian centres moved in our favour. The Dutch rate was lower. A recovery of two lire occurred in Italian exchange.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

A circular letter issued last night by the Chairman of the African and Eastern Trade Corporation defends the action of the Board in provisionally arranging a combination of interests with Lever Brothers in African interests. The objecting shareholders, it is suggested, have overlooked the fact that the profits in the West African trade for the past few years have been abnormal, and partly the result of special circumstances caused by the war, and it cannot reasonably be expected that these will be maintained indefinitely. They point out that to pay the 37½ per cent. proposed will absorb more than the net profits of the last year. The directors, therefore, consider that in view of the competition and economical management, it was advisable to accept the certain 37½ per cent. offered, especially considering the increased taxation charges through excess profits duty and corporation tax. The directors are convinced that the scheme is the most attractive from an investors' point of view.

That the Government would have to borrow heavily on Ways and Means advances to meet its obligations falling due at the beginning of this month was fully expected, and the increase in the Government securities shown in the Bank return caused little surprise. Some, however, had hoped that the reserve would prove a somewhat better foil to the low "proportion" than it has been. However, the movements are, to an extent at least, quite abnormal, and it is to be hoped that they will be largely reversed as the weeks go by. It does not look as if money had begun to flow back to Treasury bills yet awhile, because most of the balance, after repaying "other securities," has been retained in other deposits, but the remaining liability of the market to the Bank will be wiped out at once, and that will be a big step towards larger applications for bills. It is generally felt that only as a very last resort would the Bank rate be raised, in view of the uncertain outlook generally.

Details of the new Government loan are now known. The offer will take the form of £15,000,000 of new Local Loans Stock at 3 per cent. interest, and the price of issue will be 50. Payments for the stock will be spread out as follows:—5 per cent. on allotment, 10 per cent. on 5th November, 15 per cent. on 16th November, 20 per cent. on 17th December. Prospectuses will be issued on Monday, and as the total to be subscribed will amount only to £7,500,000, it is expected that the issue will meet with a cordial reception from investors.

The recent announcement of the Rubber Growers' Association (Inc.) to award £5,000 in prizes for ideas and suggestions for extending the present uses, or for encouraging new uses for rubber, is receiving considerable attention. Already numerous sealed entries have been forwarded for adjudication. The closing date is 31st December next, so there is still time for intending competitors to send in their suggestions. Conditions governing the competition may be obtained from the Rubber Growers' Association (Inc.), 38 Eastcheap, London, E.C. 3.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.—DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Friday.—There was a very moderate attendance on our Corn Exchange to-day, and few additional samples of new grain shown. Offerings of samples so far continue disappointing for the season. With the exception of some very nice lots of black oats the general quality of parcels is not very reassuring. Wheat is mostly showing a shrivelled-up character, but a few samples of barley seem to give fairly good promise. However, the want of sun throughout the ripening stages of crops has been a serious drawback to the general quality of grain. Maltsters and distillers have not yet come on market, and it is now almost certain that very little, if any, wheat will be used for distilling purposes this year, not altogether that quality enough would be difficult to obtain. 53/4 is still maximum price in milling wheat but this standard does not appear to please growers, particularly those fortunate in having a superior article. Regarding oats, ordinary samples of new blacks are figuring from 28/- to 29/6 and 30/-, and up to 31/- per barrel, even 31/6 is spoken of for superior lots. One County Wicklow sample may be placed in this category. New white oats from 31/- to 33/- per barrel; old oats are uncertain to quote for within 6d. or 1/- per barrel at the moment. Barley values are still more or less problematical.

Maize—Parcels of River Plate opened 6d. per qr. dearer on higher quotations from the Argentine, but 3d. of the improvement was afterwards lost. Sales comprised, shipping or shipped per Phidias and Glissen at 64/-, September-October, 61/6 to 61/3, and October-November 60/6 to 60/3 per qr. American mixed maize October quoted 67/6 per qr. FLOUR—Local milled in moderate request at official rates, with imported still in small supply. BEANS, PEAS, and OATMEAL ruled quietly steady at about late rates. OATS quiet, and prices generally favoured buyers. MILL OFFALS steady, but not specially active. WAKEFIELD, Friday.—Small attendance and light supplies of grain; trade generally slow, and business of a hand-to-mouth character; very slight alteration in prices. Maize market weak, quotations being lower for forward foreign position.

DERBY, Friday.—Oats down 1/- on the week, with supplies good. Barley sold readily at 87/6 per quarter, some samples making a little higher or a little lower, according to quality. Wheat at Government prices.

CATTLE.—BIRKENHEAD, Friday.—A much reduced supply of cattle and lambs were on offer to-day at the Birkenhead lairages owing to the strike of the Irish seamen. The supplies amounted to only 350 cattle and 589 lambs. Cattle met a slow but firm trade, the best sorts making up to 1/7 per lb. in sink. Lambs were a good trade at 2/4 per lb., sinking the offal.

ARMSTRONG AND SMITH'S REPORT, 25 Prussia street, Dublin, October 7th, 1920.—Beasts, 3,162—decrease, 2,977; sheep, 6,171—decrease, 3,387. Owing to the dislocation in shipping, we had a small show of cattle at market, and which was enough to meet requirements. Prices about the same as last week. Quiet trade for sheep. Beef (best), 87/- to 90/-, extra 93/6 per cwt.; secondary and cows, 55/- to 85/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/4 to 1/9 per lb.—(Advt.)

Lever's Palm Nut Cake and Meal, Pig Meal.—Agent, W. Rourke, 36 North Circular road, Dublin.—(Advt.)

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Friday.—Supplies of potatoes are now payable on the increase, and, with little or no improvement in the consumptive demand, values indicate a decidedly cheaper undertone, and a reduction in prices is practically certain on completion of this week's orders. At the moment Dublin is veritably the dearest market for potatoes inside the British Isles. Current terms for city delivery remain nominally 10/- to 12/- per cwt. for potatoes.

LONDON, Friday.—BUTTER Market—Stringency of supplies is still felt, and fine lots of extreme rates; some South African has arrived, and goes in the general pool; Danish, control prices; Canadian, control prices. CHEESE—Trade remained slow, owing to Government allotments of imported Canadian, white 158/- to 162/-, coloured 162/- to 165/-; New Zealand, control prices, 1/8 wholesale, 1/8 per lb. retail; English firm, and scarce; Cheddar 176/- to 187/-, Cat 187/- to 200/-. BACON—Danish, Irish, and Canadian scarce and wanted, while good parcels of American are in request, but stale parcels neglected; Irish 200/- ex factory, Danish 208/-, Canadian 203/-, American Cumberland cut 183/6 to 190/-, Sellies English 208/-, American Wiltshire cut 185/6 to 192/-, Canadian cured 203/-. HAMS—English dearer, but American slow, and short cuts more freely offered; English 3/6 to 3/8; Canadian and American long and short cut 218/-, shoulders 162/-. New Yorks 146/-, picnics 100/-. LARD scarce, and in demand; Irish 172/- ex factory; American refined 156/6, unrefined 153/6. EGGS quiet; English, new laid 45/- to 45/-; Irish, fresh 38/- to 40/-; Styrian 34/- to 35/-; Moroccan 26/- to 28/-; Danish 39/6 to 42/6, Canadian 35/- to 36/-; Chinese 21/6.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—BACON—No fresh allotments have been made, though a steamer is due which carries a quantity of bacon said to have been already apportioned out, but meantime there is little in the hands of importers to offer. There is a fair inquiry generally for fresh goods, though a quiet tone is reported in some quarters for American Wiltshires. Cumberlands are still unobtainable, and bellies meet a fair demand, though poor grades less inquired for on Irish account awaiting the allotment of backs promised for next week. Canadian and Danish Wiltshires in good request, but Irish moves rather slowly owing to the high prices wanted. HAMS scarce, and meet a good demand alone with a proportion of bacon. Shoulders in small compass with a continued inquiry for free quantities. LARD on the spot fairly active on American refined, but prime steam scarce and wanted. CHEESE in fair request for controlled at 1/5½ per lb., delivered to retailers, the supply being equal to all requirements. Cheshire quiet at 1/7½ to 1/8½ per lb., and little inquiry for free Canadian, which is quoted at 158/- to 160/- for white, and 163/- to 165/- per cwt. coloured. BUTTER scarce and firm, with little Irish obtainable even at the high prices. EGGS quiet at 39/- to 40/- for Irish, and 37/- to 38/- per 120 Canadian.

HALSTON STREET POULTRY AND GAME, Friday.—The milder and humid character of weather has somewhat weakened the general tone of our poultry market, while shipping difficulties restrict fewer offerings. Only choice table goods, however, clear quickly and satisfactorily. Chickens are running at an average of 1/6 per lb.; old fowl, 1/4; ducks, 1/4 per lb.; fat geese, 1/4 and 1/5 per lb.; store geese, 7/6 to 8/6 each; pullets, 8/- each; turkeys, 2/- per lb. Some consignments of pheasants realised around 6/6 each for cock birds, and 5/- hens. A quantity of potted plover also found, but condition light; grey plover, 1/-; green, 10d.; hares figure around 4/-; rabbits, 1/6 to 1/8 each.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Friday.—Irish apples slow and cheaper. Other classes of fruit scarce. No Dutch boat arrived, contrary to expectations. CHEESE—No improvement in general demand; fair inquiry for finest; other sorts neglected. EGGS—No quotations for Irish; Danish, 18lbs. 42/-, 16lbs. 40/-, Canadian 38/6 to 40/-, Americans 38/- to 39/-. BUTTER—There is very little Irish butter arriving, and for the small quantity available 495/- to 500/- per cwt. is demanded. A distribution of Government butter will commence on Monday next in this district.

BUTTER AND EGGS.—LITTLE GREEN, Friday.—Matters are going from bad to worse with regard to the position of our butter markets. Creams are almost impossible to get, and wholesalers have been obliged to raise prices to 3/2 per lb., and it is almost certain that next week's wholesale terms will come around 3/3 per lb. The position now is that first hand distributors are obliged to pay producers' prices or go without; at the same time manufacturers are more inclined to accept the higher shipping offers, in which they are not being curbed to any material extent by officialism, although a week or so ago whispers were very rife that some strong measures both with regard to prices, output, and the percentage of butter for shipment were in contemplation, and were expected to be published. Farmers' butter, too, is far from plentiful, and fine qualities of cools and separators are making special terms, but for firkins and strong flavoured stuff rates are much as before, viz., 2/7 to 2/9½ and 2/10 for best firkins, 2/10 to 2/11 for cools, 2/10½ to 2/11½ and 3/- for specially nice lots of hand separators. Low grades of farmers' butter still sell inside 2/4 to 2/6½ per lb. With regard to eggs, the position seems to be largely artificial, and regulated by the attitude of country dealers. However, prices are very wide and uncertain, according to the character of arrivals, eggs making from 41/- to 43/- and 43/6 only do so under strictest guarantee as to condition and freshness. Best case eggs from known consignors are from 36/6 to 40/-, but after these prices are anywhere from 32/- to 36/- per 120. Dublin market, strange to say, tops all markets in the Three Kingdoms in price, especially London, where prices are fully 3/- to 4/- per 120 under Dublin. Of course, at the moment London is full of Syrian and other Continental eggs, altogether apart from American and Canadian, which are arriving now in fairly good, fresh condition, as well as pickled qualities.

HAY AND STRAW.—SMITHFIELD, Friday.—The offerings of hay on market this morning were of moderate dimensions—in fact, almost half normal, and included a biggish percentage of stored loads carried over from Tuesday's supplies, which were again tedious to cash at cheap and uncertain prices, according to condition and circumstances. For good dry to prime fresh arrivals of strong hay prices averaged 7/6 to 8/6 and 9/- per cwt., and medium strong qualities, 6/9 to 7/6; best old meadow hay, 5/6 to 5/6, and occasional fancy loads, 7/-; other descriptions, 3/- to 4/9 per cwt.; clover or second cutting hay rated from 2/- per cwt. upwards, according to character. ## HIGH PRICE FOR A HEREFORD YEARLING BULL.

Since the first announcement of the dispersal sale of the "Glynwood" herd of Hereford cattle to take place at Glynwood, Athlone, on the 15th inst., news has been received that, at the great annual sale of pedigree stock at Monte Video, the yearling bull, Glynwood Homer, has been sold to a well-known South American breeder for 1,750 guineas. This bull was "first" and "champion" at the Royal Dublin Society's Show at Ballsbridge in March last, where he was sold to Mr. James Sidey. The dam of Glynwood Homer is No. 35 in the catalogue, and the sire, Polar Star, is the stock bull of the herd.

FOREIGN TRADE IN SEPTEMBER AND AUGUST.

LOWER IMPORTS AND LARGER EXPORTS.

The Board of Trade returns for the month of September show imports £152,692,339, against £148,588,572 for September of last year, an increase of £4,003,767. The exports are returned at £117,455,913, against £66,500,628, an increase of £40,955,285. Over the month of August imports have decreased by £562,239, and exports for the same have increased over August by £2,551,578. For the first nine months of the year ending September 30 the total value of imports was £1,501,190,564, and of exports £1,007,278,036. Over the same period for 1919 the increase of imports was £334,431,493. Our exports in the same periods—1920 and 1919—increased by the enormous sum of £455,931,988. During September there was a marked increase in the imports of German wines. No fewer than 119,269 clocks and watches were brought here, against the meagre total of 27 in September, 1919. The total from all other countries is only 11,939. German textiles have begun to grow also in nearly all classes, as have paper and cardboard. How our Allies and neutrals have benefited by our coal exports is seen from the following:—To France, 228,645 tons; Italy, 60,586 tons; Belgium, 9,703 tons; Sweden, 23,717 tons; Denmark, 30,070 tons; while Germany received only 1,916 tons.

Imports during September and the nine months were:—

SYNTHETIC DYES.

THE PROPOSED RESTRICTION OF IMPORTS.

In July last the President of the Board of Trade, in reply to a Parliamentary question, said that the experience of the war had made it apparent that a strong synthetic dye-making industry is essential to the defence and security of the United Kingdom, and, further, that the Government had come to the conclusion that the most effective way of fostering the industry is by the prohibition of the importation of synthetic dyestuffs. Sir R. Horne then added that proposals to this effect would be embodied in a bill relating to key industries which would be introduced and proceeded with as soon as possible.

With respect to this contemplated legislation by the Government, a memorandum has been submitted by the Chemical and Dyestuff Traders' Association, members of which had an interview with Mr. Percy Ashley at the Board of Trade on September 25.

It is pointed out in the memorandum that, contrary to expectations, the shortage of colours in this country became as acute 12 or 18 months after the Armistice as at any period during the war, so that it is difficult to see how the partial closing of the import door will assist matters. The Association suggests, among other things, the stimulation of home production on an extended basis.

Mr. F. T. T. Reynolds, of Manchester, submitted the memorandum, which, after referring to the shortage of colours, declared that the Government-supported enterprise from which so much was expected had so far proved disappointing and unsatisfactory. Great volumes of export trade were still dependent on certain imported dyes and intermediates, and although since the Sankey judgment there had been an open door for importation, available supplies had continued inadequate. While accepting the principle of making the United Kingdom independent of external supplies of chemicals and dyestuffs, the policy hitherto pursued had not been altogether successful in securing either the range, quality, or quantity of the materials required.

This might be due, continued the memorandum, to the failure of the State-aided and amalgamated corporation to rise to the occasion or to the methods and personnel employed with regard to importations and distribution, or to both. If the shortage had not been alleviated while the import door was open, it was difficult to see how its partial closing was going to assist. The Association urged the stimulation of home production on an extended and, if possible, co-ordinated basis, and the encouragement and assistance of other manufacturing firms of present or potential value, with a view to expediting a production of both chemicals and dyestuffs in quantity sufficient not only for home consumption, but to allow free importations.

With respect to the proposed licensing system, the Association suggested that the licensing authority should be composed mainly of practical men with technical and administrative experience; that they should not be selected arbitrarily by a Government Department, but nominated by the interests affected; that the consuming trades should have preponderating representation; that the interest concerned should be consulted before the administrative machinery was set up; that there should be a right of appeal; and that the "appointed date" of any new legislation should be sufficiently far ahead to enable reasonable arrangements to be made respecting existing commitments.

In his reply, Mr. Ashley drew attention to the statement made by the President of the Board of Trade on July 20 (referred to above). Sir Robert Horne had added that, in carrying out their policy, it would be the object of the Government to facilitate the work of the trade as much as possible. Mr. Ashley continued that it was not possible for him, in advance of the introduction of the bill, to give any further indication as to its precise scope and provisions, but the deputation were assured that the Board fully appreciated the importance of the interests which they represented, and that, in the framing of any scheme of administration, full and sympathetic consideration would be given to the various suggestions which they had put forward.

Informal discussion of these suggestions followed.

TOWNSEND STREET.

A correspondent writes:—The announcement that the Dublin Corporation intend to change the name of Townsend street draws attention to a locality not much frequented by ordinary citizens. Why its name should be changed is not clear, as it owes its designation not to any family name, noble or otherwise, but to the simple fact that when it came into more prominent notice, about the middle of the seventeenth century, it was the end of the town, and in old records it was described, whenever mentioned, as "The Town's End." Previous to this period it was known as "Lazar's Hill," a fact which brings us far back in Dublin history, and we learn that from the early days of the thirteenth century there was an elevation or ridge hereabouts, on which was a hospital, founded by Archbishop Henry de Loundres, for the use and benefit of the pilgrims who suffered from the terrible disease of leprosy, while waiting to embark for Spain to worship there at the shrine of their special patron saint—James of Compostella. The name Lazar was derived from Lazarus, but it underwent several changes in the Dublin speech of that period, and Lazy or Lazey was a not uncommon way of spelling it. This portion of the city was subject to being covered by the high tides of the River Liffey, but in 1663 it was that Mr. Hawkins built his "great wall," and so enclosed its waters (we honour his memory in Hawkins street), and we may presume that the neighbourhood then improved, for we find that "Lazar's Hill" had become a suburban road, with houses built along it, and the name "Town's End street" was given to it in the year 1674. It will then be seen that neither the Marquis Townshend, who was not Lord Lieutenant until 1757, nor any other person of the name, had aught to do with the designation which this particular street has borne for nigh two centuries and a half.

STORE CATTLE SALES—Thursday.

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS, AND CO.—Yesterday's entries were again fairly numerous, but not of as good quality as last week. The top quotations were as follows:—91/- per cwt. for a pen of shorthorn bullocks at £41, 91/- per cwt. for a pen of polly bullocks at £41 15/-, and 90/- per cwt. for shorthorn heifers at £39. Other prices varying from £30 to £37 made about 78/- to 86/- per cwt. For the class of cattle on offer, prices did not fluctuate much from last week, but, with fewer cross-Channel buyers, no extreme prices were realised.

MESSRS. GAVIN LOW, LTD.—There were 609 cattle offered yesterday to meet a large attendance of home buyers, and a very good demand was experienced for all classes of cattle. Good polly bullocks and all best quality forward conditioned animals advanced £2 per head in value, whilst all other cattle were placed satisfactorily at fully last week's rates. A complete clearance was effected. Horned bullocks and heifers—£41 12/6 (93/-), £47 (88/-), £33 10/- (85/-), £37 17/6 (82/-), £33 10/- (84/6), £35 7/6 (80/-), £37 15/- (80/-), £35 (82/-), £34 (80/-), £50 (88/-), £25 10/- (81/-), £31 17/6 (80/-). A.A. crosses—£46 (85/-), £39 2/6 (88/-), £34 5/- (79/-). Polly bullocks—£31 10/- (80/-), £33 15/- (82/-), £38 15/- (87/-), £43 (88/-), £42 5/- (87/6), £49 (89/-), £24 10/- (79/6).

MESSRS. B. AND J. WILKINSON.—The supply yesterday was somewhat curtailed, as, owing to the bad weather conditions of the last few days, some lots did not come to hand. The attendance of buyers was good, and a steady demand was well sustained throughout, and practically every lot was disposed of. Some choice A.A. cross bullocks at £49 10/- and £45 topped the sale, and made 91/- and 89/- per cwt.; others at £40 10/-, £40, £39 10/-, £36 5/-, £35 15/-, etc., were 83/- to 88/- per cwt., and Hereford bullocks at £39 10/- were 91/6 per cwt. Horned bullocks made £43 (84/-), £42 (86/-), £40 10/- (81/6), £40 (83/-), £39 10/- (85/-), £38 5/- (82/-), £40 5/- (83/-), etc., and some polled bullocks at £42 5/- and £41 5/- were 84/- and 87/6. There were only a pen or two of really good heifers, which at £40 5/- and £39 5/-, £34, etc., were about 83/- to 86/- per cwt. Second class seemed to also meet a fairly good enquiry, 2 and 2½-year-olds making 76/- to 82/-, and younger cattle sold at proportionately lower prices.

MESSRS. L. CUFFE AND SONS.—Probably on account of the strike on the cattle boats, the numbers forwarded for this sale were well under an average, comprising some useful polly and horned bullocks from £35 to £42. The demand was pretty well restricted to local requirements, with a few pens of pollys for Scotland. Prices were about the same. Horned cattle from 80/- to 86/-, and pollys from 85/- to 88/-, and exceptionally 90/-. Good heifers 8 to 10 cwt. made 88/- to 92/-, and were all sold. Sale as usual next Thursday.

PROSPECTUS.

The present Company of Lever Brothers Limited was formed in 1894 to acquire the business of Soap and Glycerine Manufacturers carried on at Port Sunlight and elsewhere prior to 1st May, 1890 by the firm of Lever Brothers and subsequently by Lever Brothers Limited (formed in 1890) the Vendors to the present Company.

In addition to its business at Port Sunlight, the Company holds interests in numerous Companies with numerous branches or selling agencies throughout the world.

During the current year the Company has acquired and paid for 1,227,165 [illegible] of 1,250,500 Ordinary shares in [illegible] at the price of £6 [illegible] per share. In the opinion of the Directors this transaction greatly strengthens the position of the Company by [illegible] supplies of West African oils and oleaginous seeds and nuts which in this country are used extensively in the manufacture of Soap and Margarine.

The present issue is being made to provide for capital expenditure incurred in connection with the business of the Company and certain of its Associated Companies. THE COMPANY THEREFORE INVITES APPLICATIONS FOR THE ABOVE MENTIONED 8% CUMULATIVE "A" PREFERENCE SHARES OF £1 EACH AT PAR UP TO BUT NOT EXCEEDING 4,000,000 SHARES.

The following figures showing the growth of the business of the Company have been extracted from the Company's Balance Sheets as certified by its Auditors, Messrs. Cooper Brothers and Co.:—

| | Paid up Capital. | Dividends to Shareholders and Co-Partners. | Rate of Ordinary Dividend. |
|---|---|---|---|
| | £ | £ | |
| Year ending 31st Dec. 1913 | 11,713,434 | 839,891 | 15 per cent. |

For the year 1919 the sum of £500,000 was placed to Special Reserve.

Out of the profits of the Company for the half year ending 30th June last an interim dividend at the rate of 20% per annum was declared on the Ordinary Shares. The Directors anticipate that the available profits for the current year will be sufficient to maintain this rate of Ordinary dividend after payment of dividends on all preference and preferred ordinary capital and making adequate provision for reserves.

The Company has guaranteed the due payment of the annual interest amounting to [illegible] on the outstanding debentures and debenture stock of certain of the Associated Companies, but the Directors do not anticipate any call upon the Company in respect thereof.

The Company will pay a brokerage of 3d. per share upon all shares allotted on applications bearing a Broker's stamp.

Application will be made to have the present issue added to the official quotation of the London Stock Exchange and also at Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham, Bristol, Leeds, Glasgow, Edinburgh, and Belfast.

The following further information is given pursuant to Section 81 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908:—

LIMERICK MEETING—YESTERDAY.

The racing on the second afternoon was not quite so good as on the previous day, but, under the genial summer-like conditions, the outing was greatly enjoyed by a big crowd. As on Thursday, the going was in excellent order, but fields were small. Long odds were laid on Navan Boy for the Directors' Plate, and the result was never in doubt. Supremacy led for about a mile and a half, but then gave way to the favourite, who thenceforward cantered in front, and won with the greatest ease. Dawson's stable scored a double event when Magic Maid, making light of her penalty for winning on Thursday, easily accounted for the Thomond Plate. She won in the style of a good mare, and proved how unlucky she was to lose at Athlone, where she fell at the last fence when winning. The layers got a turn over the Greenpark Plate, for which Symariton was an odds-on favourite. He ran well, but never looked like beating either Red Michael or Rosey Tread. The former, who took the lead going up the hill on the far side of the course, stayed on better than Rosey Tread, and won with a bit to spare. There was plenty of excitement over the Munster Plate. Bearna Baoghail, who made the early part of the running, was pulled up after two miles, and Beauvharrig Clug led from Whoo Whoop and Bright Blue to the last fence, where the leader fell and brought down Whoo Whoop, while Bright Blue also came down. The three, however, were remounted, and Whoo Whoop in the end scored comfortably. Fane Lady ran in disappointing style in the City Plate, being beaten a quarter of a mile from home, and Holy Gossip, who is trained locally, wearing down Ulidia in the straight, won readily. For a wind-up, Drumbuck won the Limerick Plate. Details:—

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, FRIDAY NIGHT.

Although the programme at Kempton to-day was very properly restricted to six events, only in three cases was a satisfactory field forthcoming. A card of similar dimensions is arranged for the second day, with two stakes of £2,000 value. The field for the Duke of York Stakes will not, I think, exceed ten competitors, made up as follows—viz.,

GRAND FLEET, 6, 8-13 ........ A. Smith.
THE MIDSHIPMITE, 4, 8-9 ........ Whalley.
SILVERN, 3, 8-8 ........ F. Templeman.
GRANDCOURT, 4, 8-2 ........ A. Balding.
CHUETTE, 4, 8-2 ........ F. Bullock.
ABBOTS TRACK, 3, 8-1 ........ F. Lane.
ORPHEUS, 3, 8-1 ........ V. Smyth.
MILTON, 4, 7-7 ........ [—].
ATTILIUS, 3, 7-6 ........ [—].
ROYAL ASHE, 3, 7-5 ........ J. Dines.
ENVOY, 3, 7-5 ........ F. Fox.

No attempt was made to-day to wager upon the issue, which appears to be a very open one. Lord Glanely's pair, Grand Fleet and The Midshipmite, together with Silvern, Grandcourt, Orpheus, and Envoy are equally well fancied, and I shall risk the issue to whom I esteem in the order written. Envoy will almost assuredly be placed. My fancies for the other races are:—

SILVERN and GRAND FLEET,

Brentford Handicap—Farm Girl.
Vauxhall Plate—Wild Woman.
Kempton Nursery—Broxa.
Rivermead Welter—Marshal Neil.
Black Prince Stakes—Lone Star.

KEMPTON PARK MEETING—YESTERDAY.

IRISH VICTORY IN CHIEF EVENT. TUT TUT'S BRILLIANT WIN.

It was like a midsummer day at Kempton yesterday, the sun shining with great force throughout the afternoon, and naturally the company was a very large one, for the programme gave promise of excellent racing, which was fulfilled.

The newly-instituted event, the Queen Elizabeth five furlong Handicap, proved a decided success. So open was the race that, whilst eights were offered on the field, four at this price shared favouritism. One of these, the Irish owned, bred, and trained Tut Tut, was not only successful, but made every yard of the running. In fact, nothing was capable of really extending the brilliant daughter of Bachelor's Double, whose owner, Mr. F. S. Myerscough, is so well known in Dublin business circles. The Doncaster winner, Fiddle de Dee, drew up into second place with a quarter of a mile to go, but he could make little or no impression on the ultimate winner. Orby's Pride, Poltava, and Bruff Bridge were amongst those that dropped back, beaten, after going half-way. Details:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Entries for the Phœnix Park November Meeting close on Wednesday next.

Peruvia, Tres Bonnie, Tainted Goods, Maskman, and Cap have been struck out of all engagements.

A meeting of the Jockey Club will be held at Newmarket on Wednesday next.

M. Dawson, the Curragh trainer, brought off a double event at Limerick yesterday by the aid of Navan Boy and Magic Maid, and C. Aylin and J. Hogan, jun., each rode two winners.

A Press Association telegram, dated Rome, Friday, states:—Naval Lieutenant Lingm, of Bologna, has been declared the winner of the Schneider Cup by the Central Sport Committee of the National Aeronautic Federation. He completed the entire circuit in 2 hrs. 10 mins. 35 secs., at an average speed of 107 miles an hour.

A group of Italian sportsmen has commissioned the Irish Bloodstock Agency to purchase and ship to Italy a batch of twenty Irish-bred fillies, and the first portion of the commission was executed this week, when the following were forwarded, namely:—Brown filly by Irishman, out of Coy Maiden; bay filly by Flying Orb, dam by General Symons; chestnut filly by Sunningdale, out of Solitude; and Voiture (2 years), by Louvois out of Hack Car.

GOLF.

£590 TOURNAMENT.

ANOTHER WIN FOR MITCHELL.

Mitchell yesterday achieved his second successive victory in the Professional Golfers' Association £590 Tournament by beating Josh Taylor by 3 and 2 in the final, over 36 holes, at Mid-Surrey. Mitchell, who last year beat the open champion, Duncan, in the final, was somewhat shaky in the morning, but afterwards his play was more up to his usual standard.

Taylor took the lead at the first hole, but through his being twice obstructed by trees, the match was squared at the second. However, he regained the lead on the third with 4-5; and he went two ahead at the fourth, despite a slip in his stance whilst playing his second, Mitchell being over the green and then weak with his putt. Mitchell seemed to be worried by his indifferent start, and he lost the sixth, to become 3 down. Only excellent approaching saved one hole of Taylor's lead going to the ninth, but at the next, Mitchell, after driving 15 yards further than his opponent, reduced the odds against him to a couple of holes. Taylor again became 3 up at the eleventh through a badly executed putt by Mitchell, but erratic play to the twelfth took away one hole of his lead. Mitchell's play to this point had been of almost mediocre character; but at the sixteenth, where he has done so exceptionally well, he started on a phase of the game which was to square the match, and here got one back. After a half in 5 at the seventeenth, Mitchell got down from 10 yards, thus squaring the match.

Taylor placed his drive very erratically to the first hole in the afternoon, and Mitchell won here to take a lead. After a half in 5 at the second, Mitchell became 2 up, and it now looked as if he had overcome the nervousness which had characterised his play in the morning. However, though he outdrove the other going to the fourth, his second was a poor effort, and he lost this hole, only to become 2 up again at the next, where Taylor's drive found a bad lie. Mitchell's ball struck a spectator going to the sixth, and it rebounded on to the course, when it might well have gone into a bunker, the hole being halved in 5. The seventh and eighth were halved, and Mitchell won the ninth, and became 3 up, after Taylor had been stymied. Taylor got one hole back at the tenth, Mitchell here playing the odd through the green. Mitchell, at the eleventh, holed a superb 2 at this short hole. The twelfth was halved, and at the thirteenth Mitchell registered another success, to become 4 up with 5 to play. The fourteenth was not played well by either, and Taylor won this, and as he got another back at the fifteenth, through being nicely on in 2, the excitement was intense. However, this was the last effort of the Sudbury man, as Mitchell looked like winning the sixteenth all the way. This he did, and so won the match. Result:—

Abe Mitchell (North Foreland) beat Josh Taylor (Sudbury)—3 and 2.

AMERICAN LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP.

THE STRENGTH OF THE SPOKES.

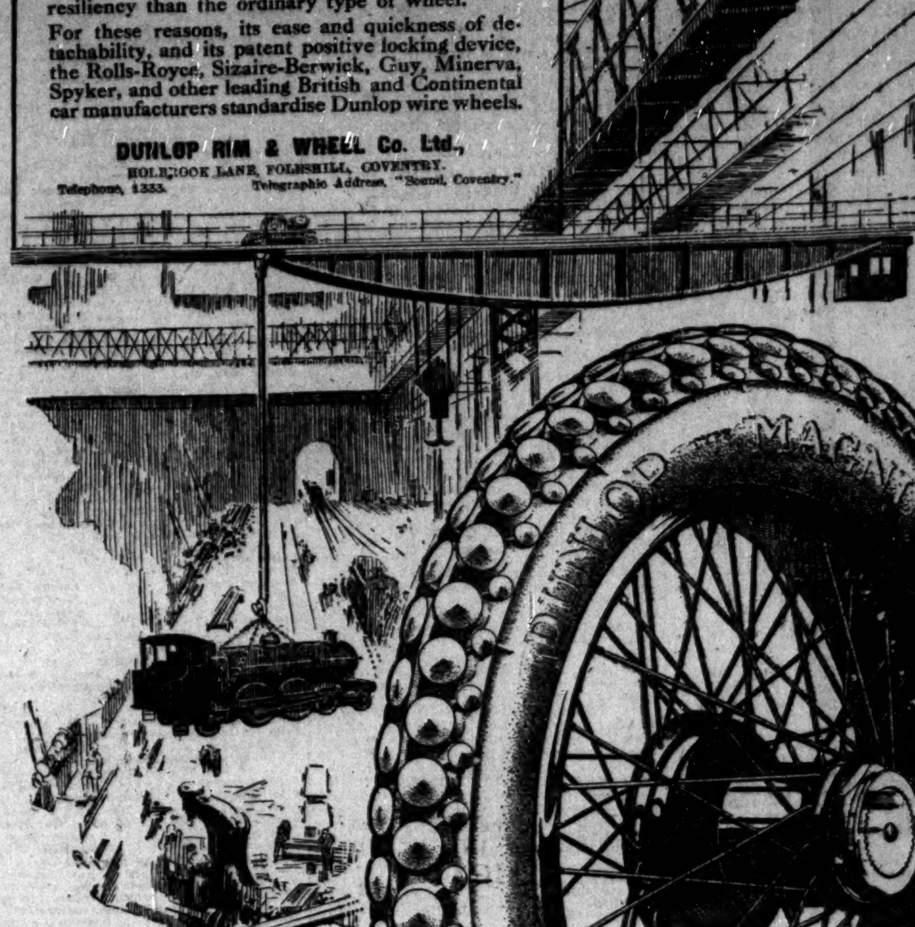

THE combined strength of a group of spokes as used in one wheel is sufficient to support a huge locomotive. The wheel is never subjected to such a load—nevertheless the strength is there.

Its extreme strength is accompanied by far greater resiliency than the ordinary type of wheel.

For these reasons, its ease and quickness of detachability, and its patent positive locking device, the Rolls-Royce, Sizaire-Berwick, Guy, Minerva, Spyker, and other leading British and Continental car manufacturers standardise Dunlop wire wheels.

VERNON MOUNT, one of the finest Residences in the neighbourhood of Cork, is delightfully placed on an eminence in the Southern Suburbs, within 1½ miles of the city, in a district grandly wooded and naturally beautiful.

The Residence is approached by a well-planted carriage drive, through the Demesne from the city side, or from a gate lodge entrance on the Grange road on the Southern side. The House is splendidly constructed and planned; the accommodation comprising good entrance hall, leading to spacious inner hall, off which are the reception rooms, all of which are of convenient size, in perfect order and repair, the decorations being of the Adam Period, in fine preservation. The drawingroom and diningroom are worthy of special mention, containing fine examples of the work of the Cork painter, "Grogan," and also fitted with fine old brass fireplaces of the period. There is a comfortable study or library, also workshop and pantry, on the same floor. The principal staircase is of white stone, with brass and iron balustrade, and inlaid mahogany rail, and gives an easy ascent to the main landing, which is of oval design, with eight ornamental column supports to the ceiling. The six bedrooms are very superior, and open uniformly on to the landing. The door of each is painted in a classical subject, also the work of "Grogan," the entire having a very charming decorative effect.

There are, in addition, one dressingroom, bathroom, and lavatory, back staircase, hot press, boxroom, housemaid's pantry, storeroom, etc. The hot water system is of the best, being laid on in copper pipes. The domestic offices are well arranged, comprising large, airy kitchen, with modern range, and open fireplace; larder, dairy, storeroom, wine cellar, servants' apartments, and lavatory.

The Stable Yard adjoins the Residence, and is well equipped, containing:—Standing stalls for 7 horses, 3 loose boxes, 2 lofts, large coach-house or garage, with harnessroom attached; stalls for 8 cows, fodder house, store houses, fowl houses, etc., and there is a large cattle shed outside the yard.

The Fruit and Vegetable Garden, about 2½ acres, is most attractively laid out and fully stocked, with vinery (heated), and three other glasshouses (one heated).

There are Eight Cottages on the Estate, three occupied by Vendor's employes, one vacant, and four let to weekly tenants.

The Lands comprise very rich Grazing and Tillage, in prime heart, well enclosed and sheltered. Six acres are after oats, laid down with grass, and 6 acres were newly laid down last year.

About 20 acres of the Estate are under very valuable Gross Timber, most of which could be cut immediately, without depreciating the residential value of the property.

The attention of city men, cattle traders, or others seeking a high-class residential investment, in close proximity to the city, is directed to this important Sale.

Valuable Landed Property, so favourably circumstanced, and held at such a trifling annuity, rarely comes into the market, and, being sold with early Vacant Possession, ready for occupation without outlay renders it worthy of special attention.

VALUABLE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY,
Comprising:—

A MOST ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCE, admirably designed, in perfect order, with interior beautifully finished, and decorated in the classical style of the Adam Period, embellished with panel paintings, the work of the celebrated Cork artist, "Grogan."

Full modern requirements, central heating, modern sanitation, etc. Standing in beautifully-wooded surroundings, with pleasure grounds, and commanding delightful views of the city and surrounding country. Fine enclosed fruit and vegetable garden, with vinery, and glasshouses. Nice compact stable yard, with all conveniences, the entire standing in a well-kept Demesne of 107a. 0r. 17p., or thereabouts, about 20 acres of which are under Valuable Gross Timber.

The PROPERTY is purchased under the Irish Land Acts, subject to a reduced terminable annuity of £60; P.L.V. of the unleased land, £113, and of the buildings, £62. A portion comprising 12a. 0r. 32p. is sub-let on lease for a long term, at the annual rent of £29 1/6.

W. MARSH and SONS are instructed by D. H. Lane, Esq., who is going to reside near Dublin, to SELL BY AUCTION, at their SALEROOMS, 70 SOUTH MALL, CORK, on THURSDAY, 21st OCTOBER, 1920, at One o'clock, his Cork Residence and Lands.

VERNON MOUNT, one of the finest Residences in the neighbourhood of Cork, is delightfully placed on an eminence in the Southern Suburbs, within 1½ miles of the city, in a district grandly wooded and naturally beautiful.

The Residence is approached by a well-planted carriage drive, through the Demesne from the city side, or from a gate lodge entrance on the Grange road on the Southern side. The House is splendidly constructed and planned; the accommodation comprising good entrance hall, leading to spacious inner hall, off which are the reception rooms, all of which are of convenient size, in perfect order and repair, the decorations being of the Adam Period, in fine preservation. The drawingroom and diningroom are worthy of special mention, containing fine examples of the work of the Cork painter, "Grogan," and also fitted with fine old brass fireplaces of the period. There is a comfortable study or library, also workshop and pantry, on the same floor. The principal staircase is of white stone, with brass and iron balustrade, and inlaid mahogany rail, and gives an easy ascent to the main landing, which is of oval design, with eight ornamental column supports to the ceiling. The six bedrooms are very superior, and open uniformly on to the landing. The door of each is painted in a classical subject, also the work of "Grogan," the entire having a very charming decorative effect.

There are, in addition, one dressingroom, bathroom, and lavatory, back staircase, hot press, box-room, housemaid's pantry, storeroom, etc. The hot water system is of the best, being laid on in copper pipes. The domestic offices are well arranged, comprising large, airy kitchen, with modern range, and open fireplace; larder, dairy, storeroom, wine cellar, servants' apartments, and lavatory.

The Stable Yard adjoins the Residence, and is well equipped, containing:—Standing stalls for 7 horses, 3 loose boxes, 2 lofts, large coach-house or garage, with harness-room attached; stalls for 8 cows, fodder house, store houses, fowl houses, etc., and there is a large cattle shed outside the yard.

The Fruit and Vegetable Garden, about 2½ acres, is most attractively laid out and fully stocked, with vinery (heated), and three other glasshouses (one heated).

There are Eight Cottages on the Estate, three occupied by Vendor's employes, one vacant, and four let to weekly tenants.

The Lands comprise very rich Grazing and Tillage, in prime heart, well enclosed and sheltered. Six acres are after oats, laid down with grass, and 9 acres were newly laid down last year.

About 20 acres of the Estate are under very valuable Gross Timber, most of which could be cut immediately, without depreciating the residential value of the property.

The attention of city men, cattle traders, or others seeking a high-class residential investment, in close proximity to the city, is directed to this important Sale.

Valuable Landed Property, so favourably circumstanced, and held at such a trifling annuity, rarely comes into the market, and, being sold with early Vacant Possession, ready for occupation without outlay renders it worthy of special attention.

For Orders to View, Conditions of Sale, etc., apply to JAMES J. BLAKE, Esq., Solicitor having Carriage of Sale, No. 59 South Mall, Cork.

The residence is known as Killymoon Castle—an exquisite little Castle, built completely of dressed stone in the castellated style. It was designed by Nash, the eminent architect, who aimed at (and succeeded in attaining) compact and graceful neatness, inside and out.

Experts pronounce the residence one of the most beautiful and compact in Ireland. Automatic water supply to residence, which is also fully lighted by electricity, as is the farmyard, out-offices, etc. Electrical energy is generated by a dynamo driven by water-wheel. Never-failing supply of free water-power, which averages 150 h.p. Water-wheel also drives saw-bench for firewood cutting, rack-bench, threshing machine, chaff-cutter, etc., or any additional farming machinery required. No fuel need be purchased, as the supply of excellent firewood is unlimited.

Private golf course (9 holes) on the estate. Two excellent trout and salmon rivers—the Ballinderry and the Killymoor—run through the demesne, which is half a mile from the important town of Cookstown. Great Northern and Midland Railway Stations within three-quarter mile of residence.

The Auctioneers wish to direct special attention to the sale of these lands. Rarely, indeed, is such a chance available to procure such an ideally-situated parcel of good farming land, surrounded by a high stone wall, with its splendid residence and out-offices, perfectly lighted and watered, and complete down to the smallest detail.

If desired, the inexhaustible water-power on the estate can be utilised to furnish power for a large commercial undertaking, or the lighting of Cookstown (4,000 population). Attention is also directed to the unlimited supply of pure limestone, and red sandstone, with a considerable quantity of excellent peat, [...], gravel pits, etc.
